MARQUEE FOR MARKSMEN—The marquee of the Arcade building was dismantled last night, as the historic site yielded seven tons of scrap which will become material for American marksmen shooting at our enemies. The task was a big one, necessitating a crane going into action. Volunteer workers did the job. Here's a scene of operations.

THE NATIONAL HOTEL.

DAYS OF LONG AGO—Where the Arcade building now stands, there stood once the proud old hostelry, the National Hotel. Fictionally, it housed Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler. The picture is from an old city directory owned by the Atlanta Historical Society.

Arcade Marquee on Famous Site Dismantled To Help Scrap Axis

Legionnaires Of Cartersville Adopt 'Stars'

Veterans of World War I are honoring sons and other relatives now engaged in the business of World War II by wearing the sterling silver service stars which have been made available to readers of The Constitution.

An order for service stars came to this newspaper Wednesday from Joe C. Nelson, commander of Carl Boyd Post No. 42, American Legion, of Cartersville. Commander Nelson's letter explained that the membership had passed a resolution authorizing the post to donate these stars to each member of the post entitled to wear one.

This is just another example of the enthusiastic reception which has been accorded these patriotic emblems wherever they have been learned about. The stars, of small, simple and dignified design, are made of sterling silver. They may be obtained at the War Ad desk of The Constitution for 20 cents, plus two cents federal jewelry tax. When ordering by mail, add three cents for postage and handling—making a total of 25 cents.

CLUB TO HEAR STYLES.
Raymond Styles, former member of the clerical staff of the American embassy in Shanghai, will address the meeting of the Men's Club of East Point Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock tonight at the church.

Score of Volunteer Workers Get Down Huge Structure.

By AL SHARP.
The marquee on the Arcade building, which site was a famous landmark before Atlanta was thought of, was dismantled last night and sent on its way to the scrap heap.

A score of volunteer workers from the Atlanta Federation of Trades got down the 35-foot long marquee which jutted out over the sidewalk. A crane was used to lower the metal, which was estimated to weigh seven tons.

The site occupied by the Arcade building is packed with history, dating back to the days when Georgia was a colony under the king of England.

And when Concert Hall stood on the spot, it was used as a detention place for James J. Andrews and his men before they were hanged after the famous train race between the General and the Texas during the War Between the States.

As the National hotel, which was built there after the burning of Atlanta by Sherman, it fictionally housed Rhett Butler and Scarlett O'Hara, of "Gone With the Wind," while they were building their home. That was when Atlantans were still trying to make up their minds whether to speak to them.

The marquee was donated to the newspapers' scrap drive by the Flynn heirs and stockholders, who own the building. The site has been owned by the same family for 93 years, having been acquired by Patrick Connolly in 1849 and passed along from generation to generation since then.

One of the heirs was John Flynn, and the owners since his death.

Stimson Attacks Prohibition In New Draft Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A determined drive in congress to make areas in and around military camps bone dry encountered the opposition today of Secretary of War Stimson, who declared it would lead to bootlegging and "seriously undermine morale."

In addition, he said, it would impose on the Army the duty of enforcing prohibition in such metropolitan areas as New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco and all other civilian communities adjacent to military installations.

He expressed his views in a letter to Senator Reynolds, Democrat, North Carolina, chairman of the Military Committee, as the senate prepared to vote, possibly tomorrow, on a dry amendment to

U. S. Air Forces In Devastating Raid on 2 Bases

By EDWIN SHANKE.
LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Flying Fortresses on their longest foray of the war in Europe smashed in daylight today at French bases from which the Nazi submarines and aircraft strike at Atlantic shipping, while single-engine American-built Mustangs for the first time in the history of British aviation winged into Germany from English airfields.

The precision bombing Fortresses hit the U-boat base at Lorient on the Breton coast of France and the Nazi airfield at Maupertus, near Cherbourg, from which aircraft work with the submarines. Vichy reports indicated the American raid had a devastating effect.

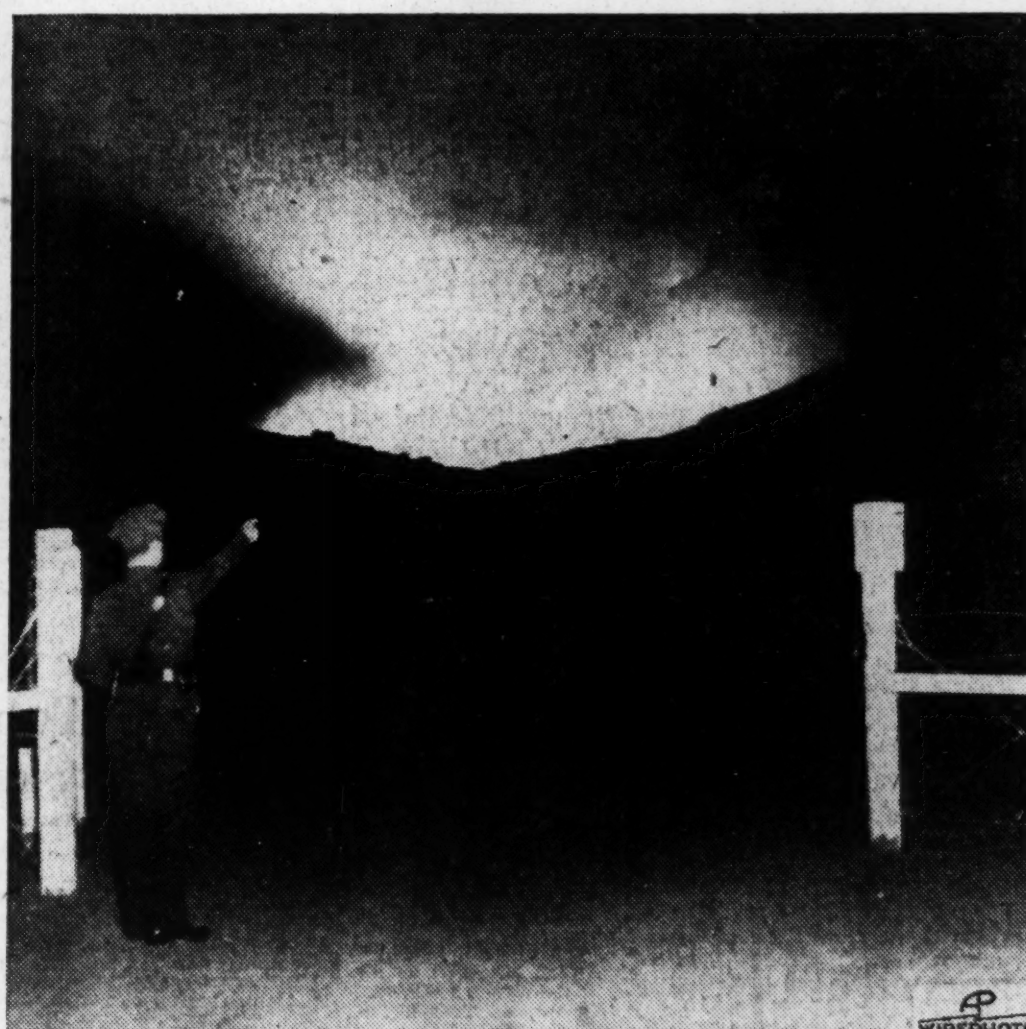

It was the first Fortress attack on Occupied France since the mass raid on Lille October 9.

Three Fortresses Lost.
Three Fortresses were lost. The Americans scored bomb bursts on both targets, it was announced.

The huge bombers roared at least 300 miles across the English Channel and Brittany to reach their target at Lorient while some of the fleet Mustangs flew a round trip of approximately 600 miles. The Mustangs machine-gunned a military camp near the Dutch border and left lines of huts ablaze, the British reported.

At tree-top height, the Mustangs

2 U. S. Destroyers Sunk In Battle for Solomons

Hepburn, Who Sneered at U. S. Quits in Ontario

TORONTO, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn, of Ontario, outspoken critic of the Dominion government of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and of the Canadian war effort, resigned the premiership tonight and was succeeded by Attorney General Gordon Conant.

Hepburn caused repercussions in the United States for his post-Pearl Harbor speeches last February in which he was reported as saying the U. S. Navy was "in hiding" and "afraid to contact" the Japanese fleet. He later said he had been misquoted.

Of his many statements E. B. Jolliffe, an Ontario Co-operative Commonwealth Federation leader, said:

"He (Hepburn) opens his mouth with the best intentions and the next thing you know he is saying just what the doctor ordered—and the doctor's name is Goebbels."

Hepburn said in a statement that he was retiring in line with previously announced plans and had recommended Conant as the new premier.

Hepburn said he had offered his resignation also as provincial treasurer, but that Conant's request had agreed to retain that portfolio for a short time, after which he would retire from public life.

Conant said he would retain his attorney general portfolio for the present and "the entire personnel of the new government will be announced in a few days."

The 46-year-old Hepburn said he had urged his cabinet members to choose a successor a year

Jap Ship Damaged; Bomb Hit 'Stops' Cruiser

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Navy tonight announced the loss of two destroyers—the O'Brien and the Meredith—in the still-developing battle for Guadalcanal, but American airmen damaged a Japanese destroyer and "stopped" a cruiser with a bomb hit.

Aerial activity yesterday and the day before resulted in the destruction of two enemy bombing planes, nine Zero fighters and a seaplane. Three American fighter planes were lost.

These developments were made public in a Navy communique which said many enemy ships had been sighted in the northern Solomons, and reported "little recent troop activity" on the island of Guadalcanal itself.

Task Forces Attacked.
American airmen are meanwhile seeking out and attacking small ship units or task forces in the southern Solomons, and continuing to bomb enemy supply dumps and positions on Guadalcanal.

Thus, in its present phase, the battle for the Solomons appears to be:

For the enemy, an effort to gather his strength for an assault, while attempting to weaken the American defenses by bombing the air base on Guadalcanal.

For the American forces, an effort to soften the blow when it comes by attacking the enemy's sea forces, seeking to cut him off from supplies and disorganize his land forces with aerial attacks.

Troop Skirmishing.
On the island, what troop activity there was was taken to be skirmishing for position. Since two destroyers were lost it was taken for granted that larger American Naval units were in the area awaiting a favorable opportunity to strike.

On Monday, the communique said, enemy aircraft attacked American positions on Guadalcanal. American Grumman "Wildcat" fighter planes shot down two "Zeros." One "Wildcat" was lost.

Later that afternoon "our Douglas Dauntless" dive bombers attacked three enemy destroyers to the westward of Guadalcanal. One destroyer was damaged and

Russians Seize 3 New Places Near Mozdok

By HENRY C. CASSIDY.
MOSCOW, Thursday, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Russian army took the initiative in the blackened, rain-soaked wreckage of Stalingrad's northern industrial district yesterday and drove the Germans from a number of buildings, the mid-night Soviet communique said today.

In other parts of the city the Germans were said to have "constantly attacked." Russian positions throughout the day without dislodging the Red army from the positions which it has defended successfully since Sunday.

"All attacks were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy," the communique said.

In one sector of the city 11 German tanks were destroyed and about two companies of infantry wiped out.

Reds Take Initiative.
The Russians also took the initiative at several points northwest of Stalingrad, but results of the operations were not disclosed. The communique merely said Soviet units "conducted active operations on some sectors."

On other sectors of this front there were engagements of local importance and exchanges of artillery and mortar fire.

One Russian unit was said to have repelled a number of attacks, killing about a company of German infantrymen.

In the Mozdok area in the Caucasus, the communique said, Soviet troops held their previous positions despite enemy attacks and conducted several raids, recapturing three populated places. "One guard unit," it said, "repelled attacks of three battalions of German infantry supported by 25 tanks. Five German tanks were damaged or burned and 200 officers and men wiped out."

Black Sea Area.
The Red army also held its lines in the Black sea area, southeast of Novorossisk. The main engagement took place around an important height which the Germans attacked unsuccessfully, losing about two companies of men. There appeared to be no let up in the German attacks inside Stalingrad as the battle for the city continued in a cold autumn rain.

A Soviet communique said Red Army men "hurled the enemy back to his original positions" at Stalingrad, wiping out a company of infantry used in overnight German attacks.

Further diminution of the Nazi offensive was indicated by reports that the German planes now were flying in groups of only five or six, whereas they previously made 1,830 flights over a single sector in a single day, and dropped 2,000 tons of bombs.

Thus Stalingrad ended its 58th day of battle.

The Red Army organ, Red Star, said the Russian defenders of the Stalingrad factory area had now liquidated the original enemy breakthrough and covered their flanks.

The cold rains which have been falling since Sunday have been effect on operations.

City Blacked Out In Surprise Test

The city's first surprise blackout came at 2 o'clock this morning. Wailing of the sirens was the first warning for most of the inhabitants of the metropolitan area. Air-raid wardens and first-aid detachments, auxiliary police and firemen were at their posts, warned through the telephone network after the "yellow flash" came in to the control center at 1 o'clock.

Californians Flee Raging Brush Fire

(Picture Above)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Residents of Topanga canyon, in the Santa Monica mountains north of here, were ordered to evacuate their homes tonight as a brush fire swept into the canyon after destroying a score of residences during the day.

The fire, which broke out early yesterday morning, hurled the ridge from Las Flores into Las Tunas canyon late today, and sweeping quickly through the latter, reached Topanga canyon, with a population of 3,300, including the hamlet of Fernwood.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, who ordered the residents to leave, said his office and federal authorities were investigating possibilities that the fire was of incendiary origin.

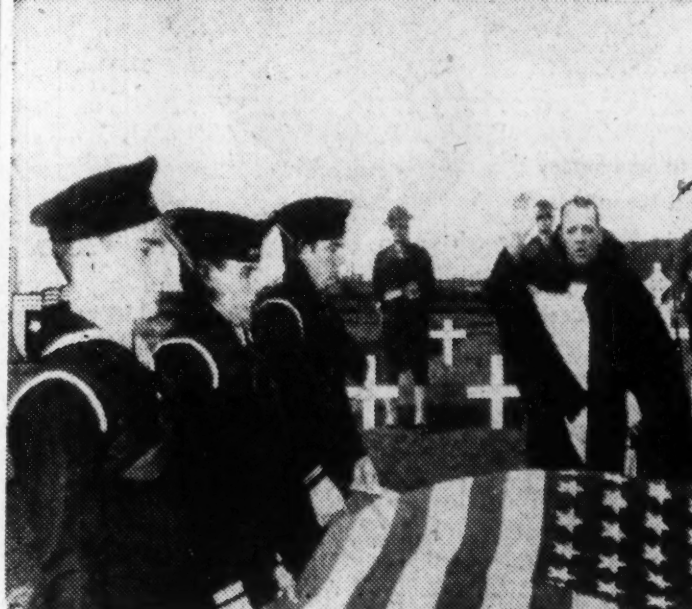

The county fire warden's office said 200 men, earlier feared trapped in Las Flores canyon, had been transferred to other sectors before the fire reached them.

The $40,000 ranch home of Actor Richard Dix and the $20,000 residence of Frank H. Ashbury, Los Angeles transportation executive, were saved after the flames had reached their immediate vicinity. Firebreaks were built and water was pumped from a swimming pool on Dix's ranch.

Sheriff's Sergeant Paul Nester said at least 20 homes had been destroyed, some of them luxurious residences.

Deer fled in terror before the

Rios Announces Formation of New Cabinet

Police Break Up Demonstration by 700 Before U. S. Embassy.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 21.—(AP)—President Juan Antonio Rios announced the formation of a new cabinet tonight to replace the one which resigned last night so he could oust Foreign Minister Ernesto Barros Jarpa, advocate of continuing diplomatic relations with the Axis.

The new cabinet was completed after a day in which a demonstration before the United States embassy by a throng estimated by police at about 700 persons was broken up.

Several youths were taken into custody. Some of the demonstrators, describing themselves as law students, left a letter at the embassy demanding of Ambassador Claude G. Bowers an explanation of the recent charge by Undersecretary of State Welles that Chile was permitting Axis agents to use her territory as a base for hostile acts against her American neighbors.

In the letter the youths warned they would keep up the demonstration daily until the United States gives an answer.

Bowers was silent on the Welles charges and the demonstration.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Twenty-two-year-old Miriam Verne, beautiful dancer who in pre-war days was admired by Hitler, was married today to Lieutenant William C. Delaney, of the U. S. Navy.

She and the lieutenant got the usual three-day waiting period for a license waived. She said they planned a brief honeymoon before her husband returns to duty. His home is in New Hope, Pa.

When dancing in Germany Miss Verne caught the fancy of Hitler and, with other members of her troupe, were his guests on several occasions.

China Capital Again Experiences Air Alarm

CHUNGKING, China, Thursday, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Nine Japanese light bombers from French Indo-China attacked Mengzi, in Yunnan province, Tuesday afternoon, bombing the city and machine-gunning its streets, the Chinese Central News Agency reported today. It did not give the number of casualties.

An air alarm sent the inhabitants of Chungking to cover late last night when eight Japanese planes were reported approaching the capital. No raid materialized, however. It was only Chungking's second alarm since August, 1941.

Was Deputy Marshal of Fulton Civil Court for 20 Years.

Green K. Dennis, 78, for 20 years a deputy marshal of the civil court of Fulton county, died Tuesday after a brief illness at his home at 490 Glen Iris drive, Northeast.

He was a popular attaché of Judge Luther Rosser's court and was well known in West End, where he formerly resided. Before becoming an employee of the county, Dennis was long connected with the Continental Gin Company.

A resident of Atlanta for more than 60 years, Dennis came here from Sparta, Ga. He was a Mason and a member of the Order of Red Men.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Cecil M. Davis, of Arlington, Va.; an adopted son, Walter E. Gossett, of Tampa, Fla.; and a sister, Mrs. Mattie M. Thompson, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of J. Allen Couch, Olin H. Hitchcock, reader of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, will officiate, and burial will be in Arlington cemetery at Sandy Springs.

2 Ship Sinkings Raise Atlantic Toll to 501

The number of Allied and neutral ship victims of Axis submarines in the western Atlantic passed the 500 mark—to 501—last night with Navy announcements of the sinkings of an American merchantman in the North Atlantic and a Panamanian vessel off the northern coast of South America.

A tabulation of announced Allied and neutral western Atlantic marine losses since Pearl Harbor showed that approximately 3,400 crew members and passengers lost their lives in the torpedos, at least 1,950 persons were missing, but that 15,462 others were rescued and safely landed at Allied ports.

Japs Retreat Before Allied Mountain Push

Nips in Guinea Fall Back Second Day in Succession.

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Thursday, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Japanese forces in the Owen Stanley mountains have been forced to retreat for the second successive day, being driven from defensive positions at Eora in heavy fighting, the Allied command announced today.

A raid by Allied medium bombers which caused serious damage to the Jap-occupied town of Macbisse in Timor, which is north of Port Darwin, was reported in the communiqué.

Allied heavy bombers also attacked shipping in the harbor of Rabaul, in New Britain, causing fires and explosions. The oft-bombed Rabaul airdrome was attacked and fires were started.

An enemy launch also was declared sunk by machinegun fire by an Allied reconnaissance unit near Gasmu on the southern side of New Britain Island, and the shores of Japanese-held Lushan harbor were strafed.

Of the situation in the heights of the Owen Stanley mountains where the Allies were approaching Kokoda, mid-way point across the waist of New Guinea, the communiqué said:

"Heavier fighting developed. A flank attack forced the enemy from his defensive positions near Eora. The engagement continues." Eora is about nine miles south of Kokoda, and several miles north of Templeton's Crossing where the trail winds down the northern slope of the mountains toward Kokoda.

U.S. Showers Bombs on Two German Bases

Unhindered along the German Dortmund-Ems canal. They surprised the defenses at Lathen, in Hannover province, and scored hits on a factory and a gas tank.

The only opposition, and it was classified as ineffectual, came as the Mustangs shot up barges in canal locks.

Other Mustangs left a 500-ton ship in the Zuider Zee burning while Mosquitoes bombed selected targets in Holland and Germany, including airdromes.

Not a single plane was lost in the attacks on Germany and Holland, the British said. It was the second successive day the RAF was over Germany.

Double-Edged Blow. It was a double-edged blow the Fortresses struck at the Germans in the Battle for Atlantic supremacy.

The Nazis use Maupertus airdrome as the base for their long-range bombers and scouting planes which co-operate with submarines in attacks on Atlantic shipping lanes.

Thus the Fortresses turned from paralyzing raids on the Nazi communications system and aircraft conditioning plants to deal a double blow in the Battle of the Atlantic. The RAF mass night attacks on German submarine building plants and bases have a similar objective of disrupting the enemy sea warfare strategy before it has a chance to get to work.

Vichy Admits Losses. Even before the Fortress raid was officially announced here, the Vichy radio broadcast that port installations at Lorient had been bombed; that 100 persons were killed and 350 injured. The Vichy radio, however, attributed the attack to RAF bombers.

This French report indicated that the raid was a heavy one and that it appeared to have caught the German defenses flatfooted. No details of the attack were made public beyond the brief official communiqué, which said:

"United States Air Force Fortresses (B-17's) bombed an enemy submarine base at Lorient and an airdrome at Maupertus, near Cherbourg, this afternoon.

"Bombs were seen to burst on both targets.

"These operations were supported by squadrons of Allied fighters. Some enemy opposition was encountered by the bombers, three of which were missing."

Canadian Fighters. Three Royal Canadian Air Force fighter squadrons engaged in supporting operations and came back without a loss.

Lorient long has been used by the Germans as a base for submarine operations far out into the Atlantic and in the Bay of Biscay. After the fall of France, Lorient became known as one of the "invasion bases" which Prime Minister Churchill said the German army had prepared for its grand attack on Britain, which has not yet come.

Lorient has been raided previously by RAF planes. Perhaps the most destructive attack was that in October, 1940, in which, the British Ministry of Information announced, two big ships were sunk and "over 3,000 German soldiers" were killed.

10-Point Farm Plan Adopted By State Agricultural Council

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

Members of the Georgia State Agricultural Council, assembled in Atlanta yesterday, revealed, with a brooding glaze over their eyes, that they have a fine farm program in mind for Georgia and they're eager to pass it along—all they need are some farmers to listen in a state where the membership of the council almost outnumber the workers left on the farms.

Under the dogged leadership of Robert Strickland, of Atlanta, the council moved ahead and adopted the program, with everyone pledged to help get the thing into effect so that Georgia can eat while the nation is at war.

Ideals were tossed into the waste basket.

"There is too much of a tendency on our part to strive for the kind of an agricultural program that we would like to have rather than to look to the kind of farming program which economic conditions force upon us," said Dean Paul W. Chapman, of the College of Agriculture at Athens.

Major Responsibility.

"After this war is over we are going to live in a world of free trade and free trade will not permit a decent standard of living predicated upon either an agricultural crop, which must, in the main, be exported, or an agricultural crop which is produced in other nations by the most poorly paid workers on earth.

"These things all point to an increase in food production as the best type of agriculture for Georgia to maintain permanently and the shortage of labor now on farms, and in the future, points to the production of less acreage of these crops, which depend to a very great extent on hand labor. "All the fundamentals," said the dean, "must be brought to the attention of the people of Georgia in every way possible and in this program, the Georgia State Agricultural Council must assume through its member agencies a major responsibility."

The problem of the council now is to share with what farmers there are left in Georgia, the responsibilities the council has shouldered.

10-Point Program.

In a 10-point program, adopted by the council yesterday as part of its plan to get the dwindling farm population of Georgia to work coherently this next year, the major point was:

"We recommend for 1943 . . . major emphasis on the production of essential food products, including hogs, beef, chickens, eggs, milk and vegetables, and that a major part of our program be not only increased production, but increased processing for home use and for sale."

Then, another point:

"That processing facilities be increased whenever it is possible to secure the necessary equipment; that canning plants be enlarged; and that every community make an effort to secure the facilities for adding dehydration to the processing methods employed.

"It is furthermore suggested that the Georgia State Agricultural Council make an effort to secure all the dehydration equipment which can be obtained and that we co-operate with commercial canneries and food processors in an effort to secure for them the maximum production which their plants can handle in 1943."

Committee Named.

The other points of the program had to do with the means by which the state council could obtain co-operation from county councils—that being the necessary channel to get the program over to the individual farmer.

At yesterday's meeting a committee, comprising Dr. George raging flames, and one box canyon which they took refuge looked like a deer park. Some horses and cattle were burned, but many more were driven to safety.

Two miles away, on the Warner ranch near Calabasas, flying embers touched off a replica of a Swiss chalet which Warner brothers had built to use tomorrow in a new Ann Sheridan picture. The fire was controlled after four hours. A studio spokesman declined to estimate the damage, but said it was covered by insurance.

Nester said some of the homes destroyed in Las Flores canyon were valued up to $25,000. Also endangered was the hamlet of Fernwood.

3,500 Acres Swept.

Nearly 1,500 begrimed, weary firefighters deployed along the three-mile seaward front battled desperately to control the surging wave of flame.

The county fire warden's office estimated 3,500 to 4,000 acres of brushland has been swept since the fire started early yesterday near a prison camp.

Preparations to evacuate the prison camp's 60 inmates were abandoned when the fire veered. The exclusive Malibu Beach film colony still is beyond the danger zone, separated by a mile of flat, cultivated land, the fire warden's office said.

The casualty station of the Laibu sheriff's substation said casualties have been many among firefighters, but few were injured severely.

Fifteen soldiers, trapped at the King, of the Abraham Baldwin College in Tifton; Tom Linder, Georgia's commissioner of agriculture, and Dr. Walter Brown, director of agricultural extension at Athens, was named to organize the co-operation of the counties.

The board also agreed to meet every third Friday for the next three months, because:

"There is the danger that we will have a serious food shortage and there is the opportunity to make desirable adjustments in Georgia's agriculture.

"There will never be a better time than now to make these agricultural adjustments than now because there never will exist in this country a greater market for food and there will never be a stronger incentive for living at home. It is our duty and our responsibility . . . to avert, as far as we can, the danger of a food shortage."

ears of Russia, America, Britain and all their Allies.

The gathering was held with many of the colorful trappings of parliament and with many innovations as well, with klieg lights flashing for the newsmen as Smuts, in field marshal's uniform, walked lightly down the center aisle past the unusual turnout of notables to a red-carpeted dias behind two great British war leaders of two war generations—the bent figure of David Lloyd George, his World War cabinet chief, and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The traditional deep-throated "Hear, hear" of parliament members applauded his remarks, but technically it was an informal gathering and so the tradition that is as old as radio, that no proceedings of parliament shall be broadcast, remained unbroken.

It was, however, the first time that a British empire statesman had ever broadcast a speech before a joint assemblage of the members of parliament, and Prime Minister Churchill himself in a brief speech described the gathering as "in many ways unprecedented."

Reinforcement.

He said he had urged the Boer war veteran, the leader of South Africa's armies in East Africa in the last war and the South African representative on the imperial war cabinet in the World War, several months ago in Cairo to come as a "great reinforcement to our councils and our spirits."

War-time secrecy permitted mention neither of time nor place, or even a description of the furniture of the hall.

Declaring that he wished to emphasize that "the defense phase has now ended," and "another phase must begin," the veteran marshal summed up the urgency for action in these words:

"Once the time has come to take the offensive and to strike while the iron is hot it would be folly to delay, to over prepare and perhaps miss our opportunity. Nor are we likely to do so."

Inside Information.

Drawing upon his long experience and "the best inside information," he painted the situation in these dramatic sentences:

"The final alignments both of Allies and our enemies have been made. Resources have been developed and mobilized on a very large scale, ours still on the increase, those of the enemy on the decline.

"Our manpower is still growing, that of the enemy getting depleted, while he makes ever heavier drafts on his suffering vassal peoples.

"The specter of want, hunger and starvation is beginning to stalk through the subject countries. The spirit of unrest is heaving and rising. The explosive limits of endurance are nearing.

"We are approaching the point when, both on the war fronts and on the home fronts in the enemy countries, the situation is ripening for far-reaching developments."

On the point of the Allied offensive, he said "it would be unwise for me to say more and thus to set going unnecessary and perhaps harmful speculations."

Already the German radio has commented almost daily upon his visit to London in connection with Nazi hints that the Allies were getting ready to open a second front in Africa.

Smuts said that "probably no such losses on both sides have ever been suffered in the history of war" as in Russia.

"The appalling bloodletting which is necessary for Hitler's ultimate defeat is being administered by the Russians and they alone can do it."

But—and here he emphasized that he was speaking from the best inside information, the Russians "show not the least sign of giving in."

However, he said, Russia is "bearing more than her share of the common burden" and the Allies must give help in whatever form "in the fullest measure and with the utmost speed."

Degrees of Infamy.

He said "for Japan, just as surely as for Hitler's Germany, the handwriting is on the wall. All that will remain of this spectacular Japanese success will be 'Japan for the Japanese.' In the long run Japan will not be good enough as an associate even for Germany. There are degrees of infamy."

President Roosevelt, he added, was "one of our greatest leaders," a reference that was heartily applauded.

At the end the assemblage took on the conviviality of a bachelor dinner when Lloyd George, recently sick but jovial, led the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow" and three hip-hip-hoorays for Smuts.

Censor Reports

Conflict With Fact

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Field Marshal Smuts' address to the members of parliament produced an awkward contradiction of censorship.

Although the censor declined to release the speech for publication until the South African prime minister had finished speaking, American radio chains broadcast the speech.

Even after Smuts' voice was being heard in the United States, the censors declined to allow the London offices of the news agencies to say he was speaking.

The press censorship had prevented the news agencies and newspapers from telling in advance the time and place, or even the date of the speech and had declared that a direct broadcast of the speech would not be made. The censorship still was insisting there was no broadcast at the moment Smuts' words were being heard by American and South African listeners.

Mrs. Warfield Dies in Hospital At Gainesville

Rites Held for Popular Sorority Chaperon at Brenau College.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 21.—Funeral services for Mrs. Virginia Fitts Warfield, for the past eight years chaperon at Brenau College, were held Wednesday afternoon at Grace Episcopal church, with the Rev. E. H. Harrison officiating. Interment was in Alta Vista cemetery in Gainesville.

Mrs. Warfield died Sunday night at Downey hospital here from a heart attack suffered Thursday night. She was the daughter of the Rev. Phillip Fitts, Episcopal clergyman, and Sophia Cochran Fitts, and was born in Clarksville, Tenn. She married Wiley Francis Warfield in 1907.

Mrs. Warfield came to Brenau College in 1934 and joined the staff in the capacity as chaperon for the Delta Delta Delta house, and she was known and loved by Brenau girls throughout the United States.

She is survived by one sister, Miss Sophia Fitts, of Franklin, Tenn., and Evanston, Ill.; four brothers, Hardin Fitts, of LaSalle Extension University, Chicago, Ill.; Henry Fitts, attorney, Chicago, Ill.; William Fitts, chancellor of R. F. C., Washington, D. C.; Dr. Fairfield Fitts, of Kingston, N. C.; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. J. W. Lowe, of Chattanooga, and Mrs. H. H. Van Hook, of Oklahoma City; three children, John F. Warfield, of Waverly, Tenn.; William Fitts Warfield, U. S. Navy base construction, Trinidad, British West Indies; Miss Louisa Warfield, teacher Broxton High School, Broxton, Ga.

Stimson Hits Prohibition In New Draft Bill

the bill drafting 18 and 19-year-olds.

This amendment, offered by Senator Lee, Democrat, Oklahoma, would prohibit the sale, gift or use of all alcoholic drink, including beer and wine, on Army and Navy reservations and in adjacent communities.

Claiming strong support for the amendment, Lee had said: "What possible objection could there be to the elimination of liquor in the Army camps and the area around them. Either they sell liquor in the camps or they don't. If it is sold, it should be eliminated in the interest of military efficiency."

Stimson said he did not question the motives of the legislation but added: "I can not too strongly emphasize the fact that the effects of the proposed amendment will be destructive rather than constructive."

Army Morale.

The Army, he said, has obtained marked results in its program to build morale and character. Attendance at religious services in the Army is far higher than in many surrounding civilian areas, he said, and recreation centers "are daily crowded with men spending their leisure time in wholesome recreation."

"Temperance among soldiers," he continued, "is obtained by the application of practical and tolerant measures, from education, supervision and restriction rather than from flat prohibition."

"The sale of beer on the military reservations during restricted periods in our belief facilitates self-control and discourages excesses. Prohibit this and those who desire such beverages will inevitably resort to the speakeasy and bootlegger outside the military reservation."

Canteen Legislation. "From my own experience as Secretary of War many years ago the so-called canteen legislation then passed produced similar disastrous effects."

During the day Representative McCormack, of Massachusetts, majority leader of the house; Senator Smathers, Democrat, New Jersey, and Governor Charles Edison, of New Jersey, entered the fight against the amendment.

McCormack said in the house he hoped the draft bill would not be delayed by being converted into a "prohibition bill." Senator Smathers said in a statement that the amendment was "a sneaking, undemocratic and un-American effort of the old Anti-Saloon League" to put "the terrible curse of national prohibition" on the country again.

Governor Edison telegraphed New Jersey congressmen calling for the defeat of the Lee amendment on the ground that it would "disrupt the entire tax structure of New Jersey" and "breed bootlegging and vice."

Senator Lee said some of the senators who are backing his proposal "don't favor general prohibition," but "they are for my amendment."

HOSPITAL REPORT. OGLETHORPE, Ga., Oct. 21.—The Rev. Carl Ayers, of the White Water Baptist church, near Oglethorpe, gave the report on hospital benevolence at the eighty-fourth session of the Friendship Baptist Association, which met Wednesday at the Rehoboth Baptist church in Sumter county.

Don't Sacrifice Memorials, UDC Urges

The Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy last night adopted a resolution urging that historic memorials in the south should not be sacrificed in the scrap drive unless metallic memorials in national museums are donated first.

The proposal was introduced by Mrs. J. A. Rounsaville, former president of the Georgia division, U. D. C., and for two years president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. It was passed by a rising vote at the 47th annual convention of the Georgia division at the Biltmore hotel.

The resolution said: "That the Georgia division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, in convention assembled, recommends to the people of the south that they do not sacrifice memorials dear to them for war purposes until the government and trustees of the Smithsonian Institution and allied national museums indicate there is a real need for such sacrifice by offering as scrap material the rich store of metallic memorials

House Finishes Action on New Navy Measure

Senate Approval of $15,000,000,000 Bill Expected This Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The house completed its work today on a supplemental appropriation bill authorizing expenditure of another $15,000,000,000 to build a greater Navy, and senate approval later in the week was expected to send the measure to the White House.

The house approved a senate-house conference committee report which struck from the bill a senate amendment providing use of certain funds for construction of the proposed Florida barge canal.

The conferees retained a house provision making appointments to the war manpower commission paying $4,500 or more a year subject to senate confirmation.

As finally reported for senate and house action, the measure in-

Women Guards To Be Added At Air Depot

Women guards will be added to the staff of the Wellston Air Depot, in line with the general program to replace men with women wherever possible.

Captain Albert K. Brown, provost marshal, said 15 or 20 patrolwomen would be hired immediately and others would be added as soon as possible.

He said the decision to hire women was reached after a study of results obtained at the Middletown Air Depot, in Pennsylvania, and the Fairfield (Ohio) Air Depot.

Applicants for the posts must be between 25 and 40 years old, a high school education, weigh 125 pounds and be at least 5 feet 4 inches in height.

A training program for the women will include drills and target range practice. The patrol jobs will pay $1,680 annually.

cluded approximately $15,000,000,000 for the Navy and $600,000,000 for war housing.

Japs Report U.S. Raid On Eastern Hopei

Three Liberators Drop Bombs From High Altitude.

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts), Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Japanese North China army command announced that three planes of the United States Consolidated B-24 type (Liberators) dropped several bombs from a high altitude late today in the eastern part of Hopei province in China, but the damage was negligible. Domei said in a Peiping dispatch.

(There was no Allied announcement of such a raid, but if United States airmen stationed in China made the attack it was the first reported instance of an aerial thrust so far north in Japanese-occupied territory.)

BANK CLEARINGS UP. Bank clearings amounted to $22,600,000 yesterday compared with $20,900,000 for the corresponding day last year.

Cotton Cord as Good as Rayon, Senators Told

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Two tire men, a manufacturer and a distributor, told a senate agriculture subcommittee today that in their opinion low-gauge cotton cord would make as good tire carcasses for any Army use as would rayon.

They testified after government and Army witnesses disclosed that Rubber Director William M. Jeffers had gone ahead, on the Army's advice, with a program for the conversion of rayon facilities to manufacture 50,000,000 pounds of high tenacity rayon a year for Army tire use.

Jeffers had defiantly told the agriculture committee last week that, regardless of opposition by senators from the cotton states to the substitution of rayon for cotton, he would go through with the program if the Army wanted it.

J. J. Walsh, president of the Armstrong Tire and Rubber Company, of Natchez, Miss., and West Haven, Conn., told the subcommittee his company had found, in experiments, that high density low-gauge cotton cord was just as good for large tires as it was for smaller tires.

L. E. Sexton, tire buyer for Sears, Roebuck & Company, said tests conducted by his firm indicated that "rayon is not needed in tires."

In a letter to Jeffers on October 15, Lieutenant General Brehon Somervell, chief of the Service of Supply, said the Army had found "that high tenacity rayon is necessary in airplane tires because of its lightness and strength and in combat tires because of its ability to withstand the high temperatures which are generated in these tires in flexing due to their extreme thickness."

Walsh said his salesmanager had been unable to sell any of the company's cotton cord tires to the Army, even for tests, because he was "brushed off" before he could "see the generals," and could get only as far as Captain Richard E. Bolton, of the Ordnance Department. Captain Bolton, a former engineer in the rubber industry, had told the committee that the industry had "not been able to make a satisfactory combat tire of cotton."

Brigadier General Lucius D. Clay, of the Service of Supply, told the committee that if tests now under way showed that cotton cord could be adapted as well as rayon to combat tires, the Army would use the cotton.

Opium Control Measure Is Approved by House

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A measure designed to give the government strict control over the growth of opium poppies and the production of opium products was passed by the house today without opposition.

The bill would make it unlawful to grow the poppies or manufacture the products except by license from the Treasury.

U.S. Is Winning Output Battle, Eastland Says

Senator Speaks at Launching of Vessel at Pascagoula.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. PASCAGOULA, Miss., Oct. 21. "America is winning the battle of production and when it is won the war will be won," Senator James D. Eastland, of Mississippi, said today at the launching of a new all-welded Ingalls G-3 ship, the S. S. Gulfport, at Pascagoula. The huge ship was christened by Mrs. Robert Ingersoll Ingalls Jr., of Birmingham, wife of the vice chairman of the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation and a direct descendant of Admiral Daniel Bowley Ridgely, of Baltimore.

Mayer J. W. Milner, of Gulfport, Miss., guest city for which the ship was named, expressed the thanks of the people of Gulfport for the honor of having the vessel named for their city.

Presiding at the launching was Monroe B. Lanier, president of the Ingalls company. Other officials present included R. I. Ingalls, chairman of the board, and R. I. Ingalls Jr., vice chairman.

Senator Eastland paid a stirring tribute to the men and women in the Ingalls shipyard in the course of his short remarks. "Free men everywhere are dependent for victory upon the industries, the shipyards and the farms of America."

Alexander Hits Probe of Payrolls

Henry A. Alexander, independent candidate for congress opposing Robert Ramspeck, charged yesterday that the proposed probe of federal civil payrolls by a congressional committee "comes under the head of bunk." Ramspeck is chairman of the committee.

"The only purpose in making Mr. Ramspeck chairman could be to give the people on the payrolls absolute assurance that they would not be interfered with," continued the statement by Alexander.

Alexander maintained that Senator Byrd, of Virginia, would have been named head of the committee if the move had been sincere.

No Agreement Against Bombing Rome-Eden

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(P)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, answering questions on foreign affairs in the house of commons today, said there was no agreement between Britain and Italy or any other country to avoid bombing Rome or other cities.

Answering another question, he said that control of the Suez canal was "wholly in the hands of the London directors," though the head office is still in Paris.

The foreign secretary said that negotiations for the relinquishment of extraterritorial rights in China will be opened "in the near future."

Thurman Arnold Runs 2 Stop Signs, Warned

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 2.—(INS)—Thurman Arnold, the U. S. Department of Justice's trust-buster, ran afoul of the law during his visit in Laramie a few days ago, his friends reported tonight.

A local police officer, according to Arnold's friends, caught the U. S. assistant attorney general running his automobile through two stop signs. Arnold was let off with a warning. He is a former mayor of Laramie and returned home to visit his parents.

Higgins and FDR Confer On Wooden Cargo Planes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(P)—Andrew J. Higgins, New Orleans mass production shipbuilder, talked with President Roosevelt today about the possibility of building huge, wooden cargo planes.

He left the White House smiling and said he expected to stand by in Washington to await "eventualities."

Higgins said he wanted to "build something to protect the ships now afloat and save the man power now being lost." This protection might take the form of surface craft or aircraft, but that "is something not in my hands."

Indian Leaders Are Ready To Spread Their Views

NEW DELHI, Oct. 21.—(P)—The Indian moderate leader, Chakravarti Rajagopalachariar, who has advocated a strong defense against Japan, told newspapermen today he would be willing to go by plane to England because "I feel the British people have been misled in connection with the Indian problem, and I believe I can make them see the truth."

At the same time the All-India Hindu Mahasabha, India's third largest party, announced that it would send a delegation headed by Dr. B. S. Moonje to the United States and other delegations to England and China to explain the views of India's Hindu millions.

Chinese Political Parley Will Open in Chungking

CHUNGKING, Oct. 21.—(P)—Delegates from all parts of China, including provinces under Japanese occupation, were gathering in Chungking today for the opening tomorrow of the third session of the people's political council, China's nearest approach to a parliament.

The 214 delegates are drawn from all major political parties, including the Communists as well as the dominant Kuomintang, from the army, labor, cultural and other public bodies and the universities. There are 14 women.

An address by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is expected to be the high point of the session, which is to be devoted largely to wartime economic problems.

McNutt Preparing Unprecedented Bill To Control Workers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Paul V. McNutt, War Man Power Commission chairman, told the Senate Military Affairs Committee today he expected to lay before President Roosevelt "in less than two weeks" legislation giving the administration unprecedented power to control employment and allocate workers.

It was being drafted, he said, by a sub-committee of the commission's management-labor policy committee on instructions of the President.

Among its provisions, he indicated, would be authority for the administration to require the employment of all workers through a central agency, and power to prevent the transfer of workers from one plant to another and to require men to remain on a job or move to another one.

McNutt Testifies. As McNutt testified, Undersecretary of War Patterson announced 4,000 miners would be released from military service in an attempt to relieve a shortage of copper, lead, zinc, tungsten and other critical materials holding back war production.

Patterson said he saw no need for the present of furloughing other troops.

"The job of our soldiers is to fight, not to work in mines, mills or factories," Patterson declared, adding the exception was made for the miners because the production slowdown handicapped the "striking power of our Army."

Legislation such as outlined was termed undesirable at the present time in a report made to the house yesterday by its special committee on defense migration.

Growing Acuteness. As McNutt emphasized the growing acuteness of the labor shortage problem, the CIO cautioned against the exercise of compulsory manpower controls until voluntary processes first had been utilized to the limit to get maximum results in war production.

The Economic Outlook, a CIO monthly publication, accused the Man Power Commission of having failed to utilize "all its authority, its prestige, or its power," a charge similar to that made in yesterday's house report.

"Not until all efforts have been exhausted will labor accede to legislation, and then only with the necessary safeguards," the Economic Outlook warned, adding that there was no present need for compulsory controls.

Good Weather Favors Cotton Crop Harvest

Progress Reported in All Districts, Bureau Declares.

The Weather Bureau reported yesterday that cotton picking in Georgia "made good progress in all districts under very ideal weather conditions" during the week ending October 20.

"Most of the crop has been gathered in central and southern areas and a large part of the crop in northern districts," the Weather Bureau said. "Condition of the crop is generally good."

The bureau said that "very little rain has occurred anywhere in the state since the first of the month, and the soil has dried out considerably."

"Lack of sufficient rainfall has caused the ground to become too dry and hard for seeding grain and harvesting of sweet potatoes, but this condition has had no serious effect upon most other crops which have already matured."

"Good progress was made in most farm activities, although there continues to be a labor shortage in many areas."

Assistant Regional OPA Head Real Busy Man—Likes His Job

Constitution Staff Photo—H. J. Clayton. RATIONER—Alexander Harris, assistant regional OPA administrator, guides the policy of the War Price and Rationing Boards.

Alexander Harris Gets Eloquent at Mention of Rationing.

By BETTY MATHIS. (Editor's Note: This is the first of a series of stories dealing with the men in Atlanta whose unusual jobs affect the lives of every American citizen in this total war.)

The man behind the men who rule you can't have an extra gasoline book is Alexander Harris, a tall, iron-gray Virginian, who by request of Washington is now smoothing out the kinks for the ration boards he helped set up last December.

Alec Harris is the guiding spirit behind the 956 local War Price and Rationing Boards in eight southeastern states. Called to Washington on last December 16, he, with 11 other men, had the gigantic task of securing at least three men to serve voluntarily from six to 16 hours a day in every county in the United States. That job was completed by January 1, and Harris went back to his civilian job as president of the Tennessee Marble Company at Knoxville.

He stayed in private business exactly one month after that, when urgent requests from the nation's capital sent him back into the Office of Price Administration as assistant regional administrator.

A Busy Man. Harris is a busy man. Ultimately all the knotty problems find their way from the local boards to him, and there are a lot of problems, he will tell you. Everyone who applies for any rationed commodity has a special and particular reason why his request should be granted, in spite of the general regulations. And it is up to Harris to see that every one is happy and that the best interests of the nation are served.

He is probably the most enthusiastic man about the ration boards in the entire United States. Just mention the word ration and he becomes eloquent. This is what he says about the three-man ration boards: "These people have given their untiring efforts to the program and unless they are given support by the public as well as every division of OPA, the OPA program which is necessary to prevent increase in the cost of living and to supply the armed forces with commodities required by them, is bound to fail."

Democracy's Light. "The members of the War Price and Rationing Boards are honest, intelligent, respected members of their communities. Their jobs—and ours—is to be able to return to the boys now in uniform when they come back, as good a country to live in as they left. These boards are the lighthouses of democracy. They will prevent the wrecking of the OPA program on the rocks of misinformation and selfishness and are entitled to the wholehearted support of every individual in the United States."

Under Harris' direction in this region are six district offices and eight state offices with three or four persons in each office, including clerical help. Harris' regional staff consists of himself and three others.

Atlanta Baptist Group Closes Annual Session

34th Meeting Re-elects Parks R. Warnock as Moderator.

The Atlanta Association of Baptist Churches concluded its 34th annual session yesterday by re-electing Parks R. Warnock, executive secretary of the Druid Hills Baptist church, as moderator and H. E. Moody, financial secretary of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church, as clerk. The Rev. Eugene E. Steele, pastor of the Oakland City Baptist church, was re-elected vice moderator.

The two-day session of the association was held at the First Baptist church of Decatur, Dr. Dick H. Hall, pastor. Six hundred messengers from the 86 white Baptist churches of metropolitan Atlanta, were enrolled, together with several hundred visitors.

Guest speakers for the meeting included Dr. F. C. McConnell, pastor of the First Baptist church, Anderson, S. C.; Rev. A. W. Bussey, Jasper; Dr. James W. Merritt, executive secretary-treasurer, Georgia Baptist Convention; Dr. Curtis Dixon, vice president of Mercer University; Dr. C. L. McGinty, president of Bessie Tift College; Dr. Paul M. Cousins, president of Shorter College; J. L. Fortney, superintendent of the Georgia Baptist Home, Haneville; W. D. Barker, superintendent of the Georgia Baptist hospital; Miss Erva Blackstock, manager of the Georgia Baptist Book Store, and Dr. O. P. Gilbert, editor of The Christian Index.

Three new churches, organized within the last year, were received into membership of the association. These churches are Beecher Hills, Cleveland Avenue and I. M. Dr. S. F. Dowley, superintendent of city missions, announced that several other mission stations have been established and will soon be constituted as churches.

New members of the executive board of the association are: Dr. Arthur Jackson, Dr. Paul S. James, Dr. F. M. Davis, Mrs. L. O. Freeman, Mrs. H. S. Hayes, George Ogletree and W. T. Whisenant.

The association appointed a special committee, composed of Dr. Ryland Knight, chairman; Dr. Louie D. Newton, Dr. W. A. Duncan, Dr. Marshall Nelms, Mrs. V. M. Womack, Mrs. Harriett Bloodworth Jackson, B. L. Bugg and Wiley L. Moore to lead the effort in this association for the endowment of Bessie Tift College.

Reports from the churches to the association showed a total membership of 84,962 persons, with 1,906 baptisms for the past year. Gifts for local church work for the past year amounted to $727,508.04, while gifts for missions amounted to $195,009.92, representing substantial increases over the gifts of the churches in 1941. Enrollment in Sunday school and young people's work also showed substantial increases.

The meeting place for the 1943 session of the association will be designated later by the executive board.

Reds Will Not Quit, Standley Tells Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Admiral William H. Standley, American ambassador to Russia, made his first report to President Roosevelt today since his return from Moscow and asserted to reporters afterward he did not think there was any question about Russia's fighting this war through to a finish.

Standley said he expected to remain here a comparatively brief time and to talk with the chief executive again.

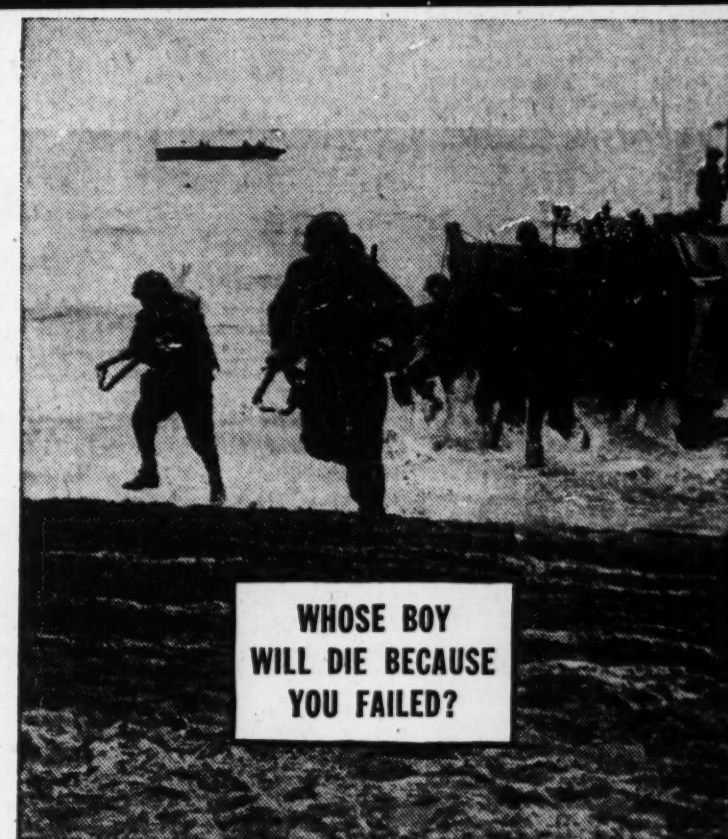

He said he thought Russia had "the power to resist" and fight the war through.

Neighborliness, War Product, Builds First Aid Center

By CELESTINE SIBLEY.

War—the same war that has their sons fighting on far-flung battlefields of the world, the same war that is beginning to make small dents in the whole structure of their old, complacent way of life—is restoring to at least one group of Atlantans an ancient, almost forgotten gift.

It's the gift of neighborliness and sociability, of actually working together at a homely task and accomplishing it with pride and satisfaction.

It's the old necessity of uniting for survival—and something of the pioneer spirit which lightened the load of their ancestors at log rollings and quilting bees, touched a gathering of Atlantans last night.

Out at 2896 Lookout place, a quiet, treey little street east of Peachtree, a score or more neighbors crowded into O. C. White's basement, drank coffee, munched doughnuts and made a frankly admiring inspection of their achievement.

From a point of cash outlay—an old pre-war way of measuring things—a basement first aid center furnished with a few old iron beds, a nondescript table or two, a couple of stretchers and $25.81 worth of medicines and bandages is not exactly a fabulous enterprise.

Pie-Shaped Wedge.

But to the citizens of that pie-shaped little wedge of the city enclosed in the boundaries of Precinct 16, their new first aid center represents a lot more than a place to collect and treat persons who might be injured in time of an air raid. It means that 76 citizens in the six blocks united for the common good.

They chipped in 50 cents each to buy the drugs and bandages. They ransacked their attics and basements and linen closets and equipped the center with iron beds, old Army cots that sons used to take camping, a chest of drawers for storage purposes and blankets and sheets enough for every bed.

A dozen women and girls and a couple of high school lads put in hours at first aid classes at nearby North Fulton High preparing themselves to staff the center while the men and older boys of the neighborhood qualified for jobs as air raid wardens and auxiliary police.

Strangers Unite.

But best of all was the participation of the entire neighborhood. Families that had a scant nodding acquaintance before the war now argue wholeheartedly over the respective merits of splints and ways of making homemade stretchers.

Mrs. White, who moved to the neighborhood more than 20 years ago, when Lookout street was a slippery, pine-clad hill, has become better acquainted with her neighbors in the months since Pearl Harbor than in all the years before. Many of them were at her house last night wandering intimately around the basement.

Mrs. John P. Coleman, a lieutenant in the air raid warden corps, used to work earnestly at the projects of the Lookout Woman's Club, a civic-charity organization, but she's worked even harder lately trying to spend money wisely for neighbors whose names she just learned.

Unbelievable Cost.

"You wouldn't believe just looking at all this stuff that it cost so much money," blonde Mrs. Coleman said yesterday. "But bandages and drugs are pretty expensive, and we had to argue a good bit to get them to shave the price down."

Mrs. H. L. Hackett was detailed to "beg" the money for the first aid supplies, and she found it a surprisingly easy and interesting job.

"Everybody gave everything we asked them to give," Mrs. Hackett confided, "and I met a lot of nice people that I didn't know before."

Mrs. C. H. Gardner tried her hand at making a home-made stretcher and found willing helpers on all sides. One neighbor, a first aid instructor, went into her garden and cut the sturdy cane needed for handles and another contributed the material needed for the straps.

"I stitched the seams and put the rest of it together," admitted Mrs. Gardner.

Stitches for Weeks.

From the funds collected by Mrs. Hackett material was bought for bandages and practically every woman within the six-block area stitched and rolled and folded bandages for weeks.

Lard cans were collected as containers for bandages and the women put a mighty effort into making them sterile and air tight and labelling them efficiently for the little cupboard in the basement first aid center.

A stock of coffee and tea was laid in to supply a hot, stimulating drink shock victims are said to need in time of bombings and everything is in readiness to take care of any resident or passing citizen who might find himself hurt in the neighborhood of 2896 Lookout place.

But if the war never hurls a casualty into their basement first aid center, the women who gathered there yesterday to get ready for last night's "open house," agree that the project has been many times worth the effort they put into it.

"Everybody has contributed something to it and it has been fun working together this way," Mrs. Coleman pointed out.

WHEN ORDERING COAL:

ORDER IN FULL TRUCK-LOAD LOTS IF POSSIBLE

Extra trips to your house wastes badly needed tires and trucks that must last for the duration of the war.

KEEP A WATCHFUL EYE ON YOUR COAL BIN

Give your dealer sufficient notice—place your order at least two days in advance.

DO NOT SPECIFY A CERTAIN TIME FOR DELIVERY

Deliveries cannot always be made at a specified time or on a specified day. Give your Coal Company at least two days' notice in which to deliver your coal. If you leave your home before the coal arrives, arrange with your neighbor to receive it, as regulations do not permit call backs.

AVOID PLACING RUSH ORDERS

These changes are in the public interest and are inspired by suggestions received from the Office of Defense Transportation to conserve rubber (tires) with the sole purpose of extending the life and usefulness of coal trucks for the duration and to avoid the adoption of far more drastic regulations later.

Roosevelt Note Lauds Soviets For Resistance

'We Are Proud To Be
Your Allies,' President
Says in Message.

MOSCOW, Thursday, Oct. 22.—(AP)—The Moscow radio broadcast today a message of greeting which President Roosevelt addressed to the Russian people through the Russian War Relief Organization in the United States last week. The Moscow radio quoted the President's message as follows: "Your courageous resistance has given us time to produce our arms so that at the appointed time we may join in your triumph. We American people are proud to be your Allies."

WHAT WILL YOU DO
IF THERE ARE NO
TAXICABS LEFT?

Laid out like a hand with out-stretched fingers, Atlanta is not easy to get around. Even in the palm of the hand, there are few cross-town transit lines.

So folks-in-a-hurry, busy folks, sick folks, must use motor cars. And if they have no motor cars they must use Taxicabs.

But what if there should be no Taxicabs?

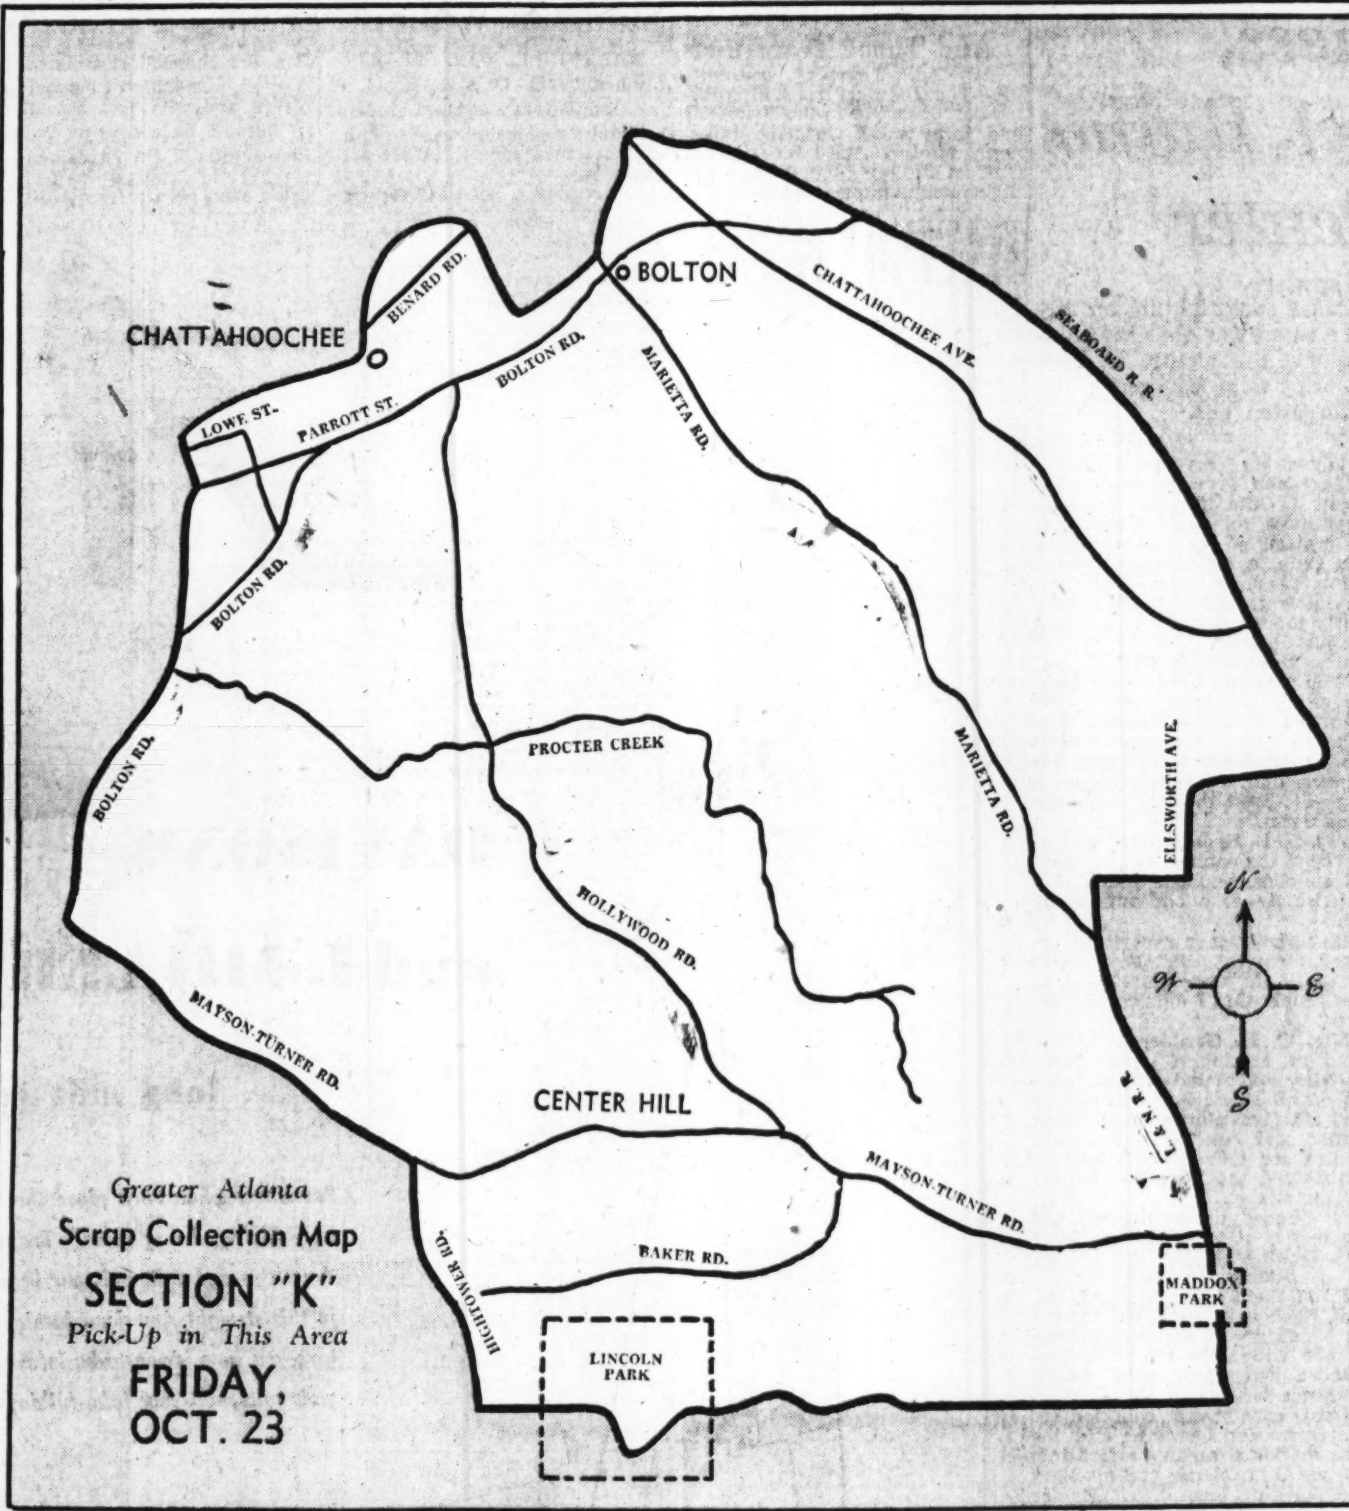

And that's no idle dream, these days.

We nurse them as well as we know how (and we've been knowing how for 36 years). But parts are almost impossible to get. Tires are rationed to us, but often we have to wait. Our mechanics—top-flight men, all of them—naturally went into the War effort early in the game.

Fifty of our cabs are "dead." The rest are in good running order, but there's no telling how much longer they'll run.

So it behooves us and you to make the fullest use of every mile. Phone us at least 15 minutes before you need a Taxicab, so we can try to serve you with minimum mileage and a maximum "live" load.

Murray Urges Dismissal of Admiral Land

Criticizes Maritime Chairman's Statement on 'Organizers.'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—President Philip Murray, of the CIO, today asked for the dismissal of Rear Admiral Emory S. Land as chairman of the U. S. Maritime Commission because of what he described as Land's statement that "union organizers . . . ought to be shot at sunrise."

Land was quoted yesterday in New York dispatches as saying his "pet hates for the duration" are "union organizers, profiteers, type-writer strategists and needle boys" but he issued a formal statement last night saying he had said "organizers" and had not used the words "labor" or "union" in connection with "organizers."

Murray wrote to President Roosevelt that "it is my judgment that this statement of Admiral Land, if accurately reported, constitutes one of the most dangerous blows at the unity of the people of this nation and at the war effort itself. . . . Certainly one of the basic freedoms for which the people of the world are fighting today is to protect the security of labor and unions and to assure their growth in numbers and influence in the affairs of the world. Admiral Land's statement is a direct attack against this freedom."

Referring to Land's subsequent statement that his New York speech mentioned organizers, but did not use the term labor organizers, Murray said:

"The alleged retraction by Admiral Land yesterday is but a reiteration of the essence of the original statement. The statement by Admiral Land appears to be the expression of a perfectly irresponsible individual. It is impossible for the workers to continue any confidence in those administration agencies of which this man is the head. I believe it is imperative that Admiral Land be removed from his present office."

Murray's letter asserted "organized labor and its representatives and members have given of their blood and sweat and have made the supreme sacrifice in our nation's war for survival. Every single phase of the war program has felt the impact of the all-out effort of the part of organized labor, its members and its representatives."

RECAPS FOR ALL

coming soon!

It won't be long now! We, at Prior Tire Co., confidently expect government orders allowing motorists to obtain recaps for necessary driving in proportion to mileage allowed by their gas rationing books. Reclaimed rubber and Thiokol synthetic rubber will be used.

Our experience and up-to-the-minute equipment guarantees you top quality craftsmanship on recapping and repairing every time! We are set up to serve you twenty-four hours a day—7 days a week.

In the meantime take care of the tires you now have. Remember, when Uncle Sam releases this recapping order he thinks a certain amount of civilian driving is so necessary that rubber should be diverted from the machines on the war front. So your tires are actually in the service of your country.

*"You Help Speed Victory . . .
WHEN YOU HELP ME SPEED WAR CALLS!"*

Despite record-breaking enlargement of the telephone system in the past two years, the heavy volume of local telephone calls is fast becoming serious.

We cannot enlarge our facilities to handle the increasing number of local calls, because the raw materials we would need are going into the manufacture of munitions of war.

To relieve the load on local lines and central offices, it is necessary for civilians to use the telephone less in order that industries, and war agencies can use it more. If you will contribute by making one-third fewer local calls each day, and ask members of your family and servants to do likewise, we can continue to meet all local war communication needs.

We are confident you will agree that this is not too much of a sacrifice to insure adequate communication facilities for war business. May we count on you for help?

Film Fare Offers Drama, Music and Romance

Drama, romance and music are the principal ingredients of the new cinema offerings which make their bow on the screens of Atlanta theaters.

"Flying Tigers," a story of the daredevil aviators who gallantly defended China against the Jap airmen, gets top billing at the Fox tomorrow. "Seven Sweethearts," a love story, plays at Loew's Grand beginning today. Music and comedy are offered at the Roxy theater in "Priorities on Parade." The Rialto holds for a third week "Pride of the Yankees" and the Rhodes offers today "War Against Mrs. Hadley."

Wayne handles the role of squadron leader, a young, deter-

Loew's Grand

Seven of Hollywood's prettiest stars and starlets along with versatile Van Heflin are brought together on the screen of Loew's Grand theater today in "Seven Sweethearts," a theater love story set in a quaint old Dutch village. Heflin, who appeared on the stage in "Philadelphia Story" along with Katharine Hepburn, portrays a newspaper reporter who visits this small Dutch town to cover the annual tulip festival. He stops at a small inn operated by an old man who has seven daughters.

All seven of the daughters cast romantic eyes at Heflin, but it is Kathryn Grayson who finally wins his heart.

Roxy

Paramount's tune-filled musical comedy, "Priorities on Parade," starring Ann Miller, Betty Rhodes, Jerry Colonna and Vera Vague, comes to the Roxy theater tomorrow. Johnnie Johnston's orchestra furnishes the music.

The story opens with Johnston's band playing swing music in an airplane factory. He tangles with a female welder—Miss Rhodes—and the whole thing winds up with a bang with the musicians building bombers for Uncle Sam.

Many of the tunes featured in this picture already have made the hit parade.

Rialto

"Pride of the Yankees," the great story of Lou Gehrig's life, which is setting new house records at the Rialto theater, enters its third week today. Gary Cooper and Teresa Wright are the stars.

A romantic story, "Pride of the Yankees" uses baseball only as a background in telling of the joys and later hardships which faced this great American sportsman.

Walter Brennan, as a newspaper sports writer, and Babe Ruth and Bill Dickey as his teammates, play important supporting roles.

Laval's Demands On Labor Called Slavery by Hull

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Hull, asked about Pierre Laval's demand that Frenchmen reconcile themselves to working for Germany, said today that such work in fact was only slavery.

City Leaders Of Texas Study Problems Here

Wichita Falls' Manager, Mayor Discuss Gas Experiences.

Mayor Hartsfield and other leading Atlantans yesterday were telling their experiences with gasoline rationing to City Manager J. A. Giddings, of Wichita Falls, Texas, and Don Wallace, manager of that city's Chamber of Commerce.

The Texans came into Atlanta yesterday under a "Be Prepared" program to find out the problems and to attempt to meet them as far as is possible when the lid is clamped on gas pumps throughout the country.

They will visit Augusta and Macon, and will carry their findings back to Wichita Falls over the weekend.

Giddings said staggered hours are now being put into operation to ease the transportation problem and that much valuable information has been gathered on the Atlanta visit. They were accompanied on their rounds by Frank Shaw, of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

Nazis Clamp Martial Law On All Serbia

French Spurn Laval's Work Order; Unrest Is Spreading.

By FRANK BRUTTO.

BERN, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Martial law was reported clamped upon all Serbia today in the latest Nazi attempt to suppress patriotic activities in that land, while from France came reliable reports that Frenchmen had no general intention of obeying Pierre Laval's order to volunteer for work in Germany or be conscripted.

Trouble for the German overlords also was reported from Norway as the spirit of unrest and resistance mounted in the occupied countries.

A Budapest dispatch to the Basler Nachrichten reported martial law was declared by the puppet Serb government after General Bader, Nazi military commander in Serbia, announced many arrests had been made because insurgents attempted to organize a revolt against the occupation forces.

It was recently reported by the Basler Sozialist newspaper, Arbeiter Zeitung, that the Gestapo had killed 500 to 600 Serbs plotting a revolt.

A dynamiting was reported from Plovdiv, Bulgaria. A Sofia dispatch to the Swiss Telegraph agency said an insurgent band forced its way into a Plovdiv factory last night, overpowered the nightwatchmen and blew up a large part of the building.

Meanwhile, a Lyon dispatch to the Berner Tagwacht declared that French factory owners and managers in large numbers were supporting their employees in opposing conscription for labor in Germany.

The speech of the Vichy chief of government yesterday, in which Laval confronted French workers with the choice of serving voluntarily in German war factories or being sent there by force, came up for discussion at Hull's press conference and the secretary reminded pungently that such workers might just as well be prisoners of war in Germany.

Hull later applied further emphasis to his remarks by authorizing direct quotation of his words, as follows:

"I think you will recall that this government at present, the President and the State Department in particular, really took the lead after the setting up of the government of Vichy—took the lead in proclaiming and keeping alive all the free French republic and in condemning all pro-Hitler acts of Mr. Laval just as we condemn Hitler himself.

"We have kept alive as best we could by public statements an intense opposition to every phase of Hitlerism wherever it existed, and have given all possible encouragement to the people of France to keep alive the great ideals and ideas of freedom and popular institutions which made that country so great.

"I, some weeks ago, in referring to this question of labor being picked up and sent over from France to Germany, said that it was about as much a state of slavery to have labor sent over there and put under forced service as it was, if not a little more, to be a prisoner of war confined in Germany; that I assumed the French people would view it that way; and it is very gratifying to see signs cropping up increasingly through France that the people are awakening to all those conditions which Laval is attempting to impose upon them and especially in their intense opposition to this proposed enforced service of enslavement of French labor in Germany."

day have been known as the Flynn heirs. Among them are Mrs. Helen O'Brien Gude, Mrs. Harry Hasson, Miss Mai F. O'Brien, Miss Katherine Flynn and Miss Frances Flynn.

The history of the Arcade building site goes back to 1732, as a tablet on the entrance explains. It marked the boundary of the "Colony of Georgia." The tablet reads:

FROM THIS SPOT
SOUTHEASTWARD ALONG SOUTH RIVER, OCMULGEE
AND ALMAHARA RIVERS TO THE SEA
AND FROM THIS SPOT
WESTWARD TO THE SOUTH SEA (PACIFIC OCEAN)
WAS THE LOWER BOUNDARY LINE OF THE COLONY OF GEORGIA
AS GRANTED TO TRUSTEES
BY KING GEORGE II OF ENGLAND
JUNE 9, 1732.

A building on the site was known as Concert Hall during the War Between the States, according to historical facts gathered from Wilbur G. Kurtz, Margaret Mitchell, Stephen Mitchell, Ruth Blair, of the Atlanta Historical Society, who found the picture of the National hotel, and others.

Thrilling Chase.
After the thrilling chase in which Confederate soldiers finally caught Andrews and his raiders, the Yankees were brought to Atlanta, where they were kept in Concert Hall.

On June 7, 1862, Andrews was taken in a two-seated carriage to a point near Third and Juniper streets, where he was hanged. Eleven days later, seven of the soldiers who helped him were hanged at a spot near Memorial drive and South Park avenue.

The building was partially destroyed by Sherman's troops and later rebuilt as the National hotel. The hotel, a show place in that day, had black walnut furnishings and a beautiful barroom and billiard salon, according to histories.

The marquee was put on the Arcade building when it was completed at the end of the last war. Now the site is the scene of more activity during a war—a far cry from the carpetbag days of the '60's.

The marquee is headed for the scrap pile so it can take an active part in this one as cannons, machineguns, armor or bullets.

Stewart Bank Account Bared At Huie Trial

O'Connor Also Charged With Conspiracy To Violate U. S. Act.

Testimony regarding a special bank account of J. E. B. Stewart, which the government seeks to prove contained campaign funds raised among employees of the State Department of Labor for the re-election of Ben T. Huie, head of the department, in 1940, was the high spot in yesterday's session of the trial of Huie, Stewart and Marion A. O'Connor, charged with conspiracy to violate the federal corrupt practices act.

C. M. Floyd, officer in charge of records at Fulton National Bank, testified the account was opened May 8, 1940, with an initial deposit of $890.90 and that deposits continued until March 26, 1941, the total money placed in the account amounting to $2,932.36.

At the time the account was opened an arrangement was made whereby both Stewart and Rex B. Huffman could draw checks. A number of witnesses had testified Huffman was the man to whom they were instructed to make their campaign contributions. In February of 1941, Floyd said, Huffman's signature was replaced by that of B. F. Holbrook, Huie's assistant.

Photostatic copies of checks said to have been deposited in the account were excluded from evidence until they could be compared with the bank's files and positively identified as such.

During the course of the day in which number of witnesses testified that they were instructed by their superior officer, O'Connor, to "pass the word along" to their subordinates that campaign funds were to be drawn from the account, Clifford Walker declared that he had contributed $200 to the campaign, which represented half a month's salary as general counsel for the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, of which Stewart was executive director in 1940.

Witnesses testified that it had been suggested that this half-month's pay be the amount contributed by all employees making $150 per month or more.

The former Governor is expected to resume testimony this morning.

Raid Warden Does Patriotic Sleuthing

The air raid warden, it seems, has more duties than just seeing that lights go out when the sirens sound. Yesterday J. L. Lloyd was sponsor for the purchase of $4,000 worth of war bonds as a result of a little patriotic sleuthing he did a couple of weeks ago.

Making his rounds of inspection for "V homes," he called on Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Kass, of 520 Waldo street, S. W., and they gave him approximately 1,000 pounds of valuable metal for the scrap drive. Heirloom items they had possessed for years. Air Raid Warden Lloyd talked about the scrap's part in war, and Mrs. Kass said she wanted to do something more for the war effort, since her native land, Russia, was taking such a pounding from the Axis.

They began to talk about what else she could do, and Lloyd learned the Kass family was expecting to collect an old debt of $4,000 soon. They decided it should go into war bonds and Lloyd volunteered to take Mrs. Kass downtown to make her purchase when the money came.

Yesterday Lloyd furnished transportation to a downtown bank, where Mrs. Kass invested the entire amount in a share of America.

Second Attack Count Is Filed Against Flynn

Another 17-Year-Old Makes Charge, Naming Screen Actor.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21.—(AP)—A second charge of assault involving a 17-year-old girl was filed today against Actor Errol Flynn. Juvenile Officer Lieutenant R. W. Bowling signed a complaint charging that the swashbuckling film idol attacked Peggy Lurie Satterlee, 17, August 3, 1941, during a week-end trip to Catalina Island on the actor's yacht.

Flynn is scheduled to appear for preliminary hearing Friday on a charge of attacking Betty Hadden, 17, movie-struck Lincoln, Neb. girl, at a party last September 17. A deputy district attorney said the actor's lawyers plan to surrender him tomorrow on the new charge.

AMA Offices To Be Moved, Palmer Says

250 Employees Brought Here From Other Sections in Southeast.

Organization of the new Agricultural Marketing Administration regional office in Atlanta, with some 250 employees brought in from other offices in the southeast, is practically completed, Regional Administrator James H. Palmer announced last night.

Colonel Palmer also said the AMA, temporarily quartered in the Peachtree building at Peachtree and Baker streets, would be moved to the Western Union building within 10 days.

At present, one of the AMA's main jobs is purchasing farm products for lend-lease export.

The Atlanta office also administers the school lunch and milk programs, the food stamp plan and the victory foods program as well as maintaining a farm market news service.

Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Mississippi will be served from the Atlanta headquarters.

Thrasher Says Finances In 'Healthy State'

School Payments Can Be Made Without Borrowing, Report Shows.

In a quarterly statement on Georgia's financial condition, State Auditor B. E. Thrasher Jr. said yesterday that sufficient funds were on hand to make school payments without the customary borrowing of $3,500,000.

He asserted, however, that with an anticipated loss of $3,000,000 in fuel oil tax collections in the current quarter, the state's revenue will fall $3,447,678 short of approved budgetary expenditures.

In a preface to the statement, Thrasher said that, in order to provide the public with an up-to-date picture of the state's financial condition, "it has been decided to make a few budgetary changes so that at the end of each quarter a complete balance sheet of the state could be presented."

Financial Position. "The information will show the improvement or decline of the state's financial position. This is the first of such statements, and it is dedicated to the citizens and officials interested in the state government of Georgia and to a further improvement in the state's financial picture."

Heretofore, these balance sheets have been compiled only at the end of each fiscal year.

The report listed cash assets on September 30 of $20,778,778, of which $13,719,391 was a surplus above accounts payable and reserves for sinking fund payments and revolving funds.

This cash surplus compared with a surplus of $9,655,000 at the close of the last quarter on June 30. Thrasher said, however, that the previous quarter was one in which revenues customarily exceed expenditures, while in the current quarter the situation is the reverse.

Still outstanding and not maturing wholly until the end of 1944 are $4,328,870 in certificates of indebtedness issued by the State Highway Department. Also the highway department has made contracts for $8,599,179 which have not yet matured. Counting these as liabilities against the cash on hand, the surplus is reduced to $291,340.

Highway Contracts. Altogether, contracts that the highway department has let, but that have not matured total $25,668,871, but $27,169 of this will be paid by regular federal road funds, $7,600,403 by the WPA and $2,797,618 by the counties.

Asserting state finances were "in a healthy condition" on September 30, Thrasher said the surplus of $291,340 compared with a deficit of $26,415,080 on January 1, 1941, when the state had $29,759,642 obligations to be liquidated with only $3,344,581 in cash above the necessary reserves.

He added, however, that the surplus was not a sufficient working fund to start the current quarter—"the first heavy expenditure quarter of the (fiscal) year since the $6,400,000 quarterly requirements for the common schools hit the state with full force."

"Normally it would be necessary to borrow $3,500,000 to meet these payments; however, there are sufficient reserves set up for payment of certified accounts and contracts with future maturity to allow the use of these funds instead of borrowed money."

The auditor said departmental budgets, as now approved, will require expenditure of $15,902,921 in state funds by the end of the quarter on December 31. With gasoline rationing expected to clip $3,000,000 from fuel oil tax receipts, revenues are estimated at only $11,615,243 compared to $14,615,243 last year.

Athens Family Goes All-Out for Navy Life

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 21.—The Porter family here is all Navy, as evidenced by two silver stars on the Navy uniform of the senior member, Joseph R. Porter, chief commissary steward, USN (ret.), attached to the Navy 'Pre-Flight' School here.

The pair of stars is worn proudly for his two sons, James D. and Edmund R. Porter, both serving at sea with the Navy. James, aged 22, a pharmacist's mate, second class, is attached to the Fleet Marine force in the southwest Pacific war zone while Edmund, 21, is a pharmacist's mate, third class, with a destroyer in the Pacific.

The Porters graduated from Tallulah Falls High school. James attended the University of Georgia for more than a year while Edmund took a business course in Atlanta.

"Neither could wait long to join the Navy," Porter Sr. said. "James three years ago, and Edmund two years. They're both all Navy, for that's been their ambition since they were youngsters."

Athens has been the Porter home for several years, and the elder Porter, retired from the Navy in 1937 after 30 years of service, was called back to active duty this past spring.

Being retired, he had preference in his duty assignment, and selected the Pre-Flight School, where he not only checks provisions for the 1,600 cadets, but has the task of maintaining a smooth eating-schedule in a mess hall that seats only 600. This is accomplished in precision-like manner.

Chief Porter, who served with the fleet in Mediterranean sea patrol during the first World War, has received word from both his sons recently, James sending a radiogram from the turbulent southwest Pacific zone that he was "well."

Both sons received their initial training at the Naval Training Station, Norfolk, Va., and specialized training at the Naval hospital, Portsmouth, Va.

Nelson Gives Wickard Control of Livestock

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson issued an order today conferring upon Secretary of Agriculture Wickard authority to control the disposition and marketing of livestock in the interest of maximum production of meat for war needs.

This order would serve as the legal basis for a permit or allocation system which Wickard has said may be necessary to handle a record supply of hogs to be marketed this winter.

There has been some question regarding the ability of processing facilities to handle the peak movement of hogs expected in December and January.

Guiomar Novaes, Brazil Pianist, Cancels Music Club Appearance

Guiomar Novaes, Brazilian pianist, who was scheduled to open the Atlanta Music Club's Artist's Series at the Woman's Club auditorium November 3, has canceled her concert here, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. E. Raymond Johnson, president of the club.

Miss Novaes will be unable to come to the United States until January, thus cannot fill her Atlanta engagement, Mrs. Johnson said.

"We will probably replace her with a duo-piano team," Mrs. Johnson said, "and the announcement will be made in a couple of days."

Other artists signed for the Music Club series include Zino Francescatti, violinist, due December 12, and Robert Weede, baritone, March 12.

The Atlanta Music Club's All-Star Series will open at the municipal auditorium Saturday night with a concert by John Charles Thomas, distinguished baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Following his performance here, Thomas will be guest star on the "Telephone Hour" for the third time Monday night.

Nazi Education Minister Visits Italy, Berlin Says

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Oct. 21.—(AP)—Bernhard Rust, Germany's minister of education, has ended a few days' visit to Italy, Transocean reported today in a dispatch from Rome. (Last week another German visitor to Italy was Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German state police.)

Family Reunited For Return Of Dr. Norris From War Zone

• • • ON WEDNESDAY EVENING of last week Mrs. Jack C. Norris received a long distance phone call from the west coast—and nothing has been the same in the Norris household on Peachtree Battle avenue since.

The call, you see, was from Dr. Jack C. Norris, who is a lieutenant commander in Uncle Sam's Navy, and whose duties in the Pacific war zone have kept him away from home since before "Pearl Harbor". He announced over the wire that he is en route home for a leave before assuming important new duties with the Navy.

Dr. Norris is expected "any minute" now—and a royal welcome is planned in his honor. In addition to his attractive wife, he will be greeted by his son, Jack, and by his daughters, Elsa, who has forsaken her studies at the University of Georgia in order to be present for his arrival, and Karen (Mrs. James) Sibley, who journeyed to Atlanta from Jackson, Miss., to see him. Karen and her husband, Jimmy, you know, have resided in Jackson ever since the latter was sent there for training with the Army Air Forces.

On Saturday Mrs. Norris' cousin, Mrs. Paul D. Rust Jr., will arrive from Boston, Mass., to participate in welcoming Dr. Norris home. Mrs. Rust returned only recently from Kodiak, Alaska, as one of a group of women evacuees. She has lived there for some time, her husband being a lieutenant commander with naval forces in the northern outpost.

Mrs. Norris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parsons, of Saphire, N. C., have also arrived at the Norris home, awaiting Dr. Norris' arrival, not to mention those charming newcomers to this city, Lieutenant and Mrs. J. J. Lamb, formerly of Charleston, S. C., who are almost as eager to see Dr. Norris as is his immediate family. Mrs. Lamb is Mrs. Norris' sister.

Dr. Norris, you recall, was on duty with the Medical Corps at Pearl Harbor during the bombing, and his family was so anxious about his safety that his daughter, Karen, canceled her debut party, which was to have been held at the Piedmont Driving Club last December.

The prominent Atlanta doctor was later stationed aboard a hospital ship in the Pacific. His last post was at Oahu in the Pacific.

Mrs. Norris does not yet know the length of his leave, but his arrival will be the signal for lots of informal festivities. She also plans to entertain for Mrs. Rust, the date of the party to be announced.

• • • FRANCES GROVE returned from her visit east with glowing accounts of the good times she enjoyed. She and her mother, Mrs. Lon Grove, went first to New York for a week's stay before going on to Boston, where they were joined by her sister, Dorothy, who is a student at Bradford Junior College, just 30 miles away. Dorothy came in from Bradford for the weekend, and she and Frances were in a perfect whirl of excitement the entire time. They lunched with friends at one of Harvard's swanky clubs, and later they attended the football game between Harvard and William and Mary College in the Harvard stadium. After the game they attended the reception given in the president's quarters.

But the best time of all came when they started back to Boston from Cambridge in a horse-drawn hack! You see, Frances and Dorothy had never before ridden in a horse-drawn vehicle. But the picturesque carriages have returned to New York and Boston streets in numbers since the rationing of gas. And the slow, easy-going pace intrigued the fancy of the Atlanta belles. Two of their escorts, it so happened, were members of the Harvard Glee Club, and perhaps you do not know, but Dorothy's excellent singing voice has already won her a place in Bradford's Glee Club. And as "harmonizing" seemed just the perfect complement for a hansom, they

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22.

The marriage of Miss Mary Zaretta Brooks and Thomas Edwin Garner takes place at 8 o'clock at the Inman Park Presbyterian church, to be followed by a reception at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Second avenue in Decatur.

Mrs. Samuel Baum and her daughter, Mrs. Julian Wolf, entertain at a luncheon at the former's home on Pace's Ferry road for Misses Harriet and Sonia Weinberg, brides-elect, and this evening Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Weinstein entertain at a dinner party for Miss Harriet Weinberg and her fiancé, Lieutenant Elliott Goldstein, U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Duke entertain at a dinner party at their home in Druid Hills for their daughter, Miss Jennie Duke, and her fiancé, Vernon Lorch, of New York.

Mrs. Herbert L. Ellis entertains at the Atlanta Athletic Club honoring Miss Barbara Allen and Mrs. James H. Griffith.

Miss Mimi Capdeville entertains at a Coca-Cola party at Davidson's for Miss Sallie Cobb Johnson, bride-elect, and for Mrs. T. F. Brennan, of Staten Island, New York.

The annual banquet of the Fidelis Bible Class of the Baptist Tabernacle will be held in the dining room of the church.

sang all the way back to town.

According to Frances, no one wears hats in New York any more. But you should see all the cute bows, flowers, birds, etc., that she brought home to wear in lieu of hats. She looked adorable dancing in the Mirror Room last Saturday night in one of the new short dinner dresses—all black with rows and rows of black fringe—and a pair of vivid green velvet bows in her hair. To complete the smart costume she wore a green jeweled clip, vivid green sandals, and carried a matching green bag.

All the bows and flowers are arranged on small combs for convenience. Frances has a pair of rust velvet bows which she wears with a plaid suit containing the same shade, and a pair of crocheted wool pom-poms—one black and one cerise—to go with a cerise wool costume suit. Then there is a pair of cunning pink feather birds which are worn with a veil for evening, and a spray of flowers made of pale yellow feathers. But most interesting of all is Frances' blackout hair ornament. Fashioned of a highly lacquered material, it consists of two green flowers centered with tiny pearls, and russet leaves, all of which glow with entrancing effect in the darkness of a blackout.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stanford, of Hapeville, announce the birth of a son, Michael Arthur, on October 18, at Crawford W. Long hospital. Mrs. Stanford was formerly Miss Thelma Harp. The baby is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Z. R. Stanford, Mrs. William Edward Harp and the late Mr. Harp.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace T. Webb announce the birth of a daughter, Linda Jean, on October 18 at Emory University hospital. Mrs. Webb is the former Miss Montine Goldsmith.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. DeLand announce the birth of a son, Douglas Alexander, on October 17, at Emory hospital. Mrs. DeLand is the former Miss Dorothy Jean Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave H. Wallace announce the birth of a daughter on October 13 at the Georgia Baptist hospital, whom they have named Mary Dianne. Mrs. Wallace is the former Miss Mary Belle Denard, of College Park.

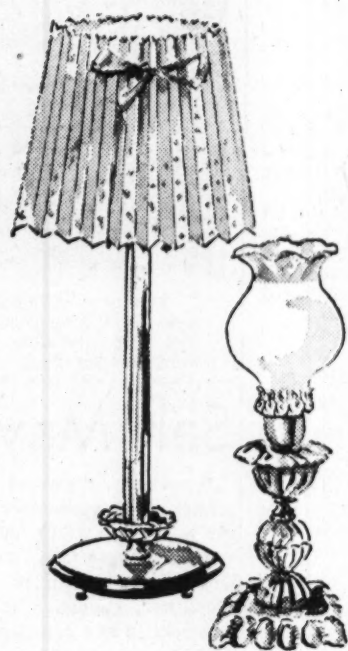

Sergeant and Mrs. John Boyd Stanley announce the birth of a son, John Boyd Stanley Jr., on October 13 in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Stanley is the former Miss Florence Cauthen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Cauthen, of Atlanta. The baby's paternal grandparents are Mrs. A. C. Stanley and the late Dr. Stanley, Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hicks announce the birth of a son, Michael Wayne, on October 14 at Emory hospital. Mrs. Hicks is the former Miss Linda Aubrey, of Franklin.

Brief Vacation From Family May Win Father Respect

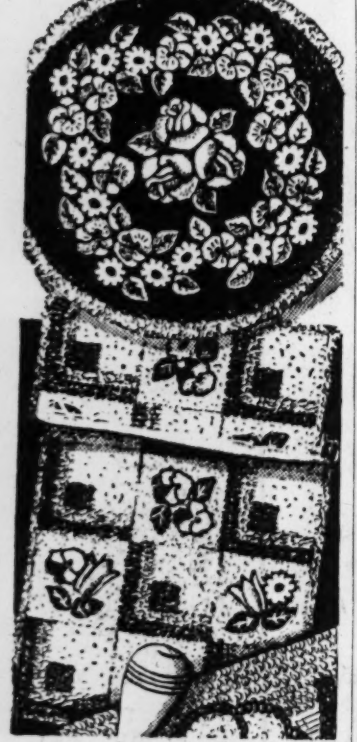

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

I have been married for 21 years and have always given my family everything I could. I gave my money, my time and my love. We have a nicely furnished home, a car and a nice savings account. We do not owe anything and in fact are living on easy street.

Since this has been accomplished my family has turned against me for no reason that I know of.

No More "Bond Tour" Breakdowns For Hollywood Movie Stars

By Harold Heffernan.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 20.—Drama the cameras don't catch:

No more publicity about film players collapsing or otherwise showing the physical effect of strenuous bond-selling campaigns, the Hollywood Victory committee has decreed.

It seems the public doesn't believe such yarns and attribute them to the routine type of ballyhoo constantly flowing out of this capital of fabrication. However, doubters should have had a close-up of the bedraggled Rosalind Russell, Greer Garson, Judy Garland, Claudette Colbert and a few others as they stepped off Los Angeles trains after recent excursions.

There's no one to blame but Hollywood, which has extravagantly overpublicized its doings since the day of the first screen kiss. Today nobody believes nothin'.

A few weeks ago Fred MacMurray dashed off "The Forest Rangers" stage at Paramount his hair aflame and one trouser-leg burning brightly. The actor suffered severe burns but not a line was given out about the incident. No one would have believed.

So, bond-selling actors had better remain on their feet and healthy; a breakdown will get them nothing but derisive cackles from a public fooled too often.

Carmen Miranda is recuperating from her sinus operation. "No," she said, "it wasn't a nose-straightening operation. What? You don't like these nose? Same old one. Maybe I should have it changed next time." Henry Fonda says he would like to catch the guy who started the rumor that he enlisted in the Navy with Mrs. Fonda's permission. Henry, who will report to his new boss after finishing "The Immortal Sergeant," said he and his wife started more than a year ago to put their affairs in order so he might enlist. Bert Sargent, of Louisville, Ky., writes in wanting to know what's become of Bobby Breen, one-time kid movie tenor. By coincidence we ran into Bobby giving a bowling party for eight school friends. He's now almost six feet high and is appearing in a songless movie for Republic. "Going to give my voice a chance to get before I sing again," he explains. . . . Ava Gardner's operation came up at M-G-M last week and was promptly passed. Her divorce suit against Mickey Rooney, that lot's No. 1 star, could have had something to do with this cold shoulder. Last November, she was tagged as one of the studio's most promising prospects.

Here's a sample of Hollywood arithmetic: Juanita Quigley, 20, Rita plays Mickey Rooney's sister in "The Human Comedy." The script says she's likewise 14. Juanita says she'll take nothing now from her older sister; they're the same age in the movies.

Sonja Henie will take along a traveling office staff when she starts her ice tour November 17. Handling all her own business as well as many details of her husband's (Dan Topping) affairs now that he's in the Marines, Sonja will have much to think about when she's skating besides keeping those skates under her.

Charley Grapewin, best known for his Jeeter Lester in "Tobacco Road," has come out of retirement for the 15th time to play a role with Tyrone Power in "Crash Dive." Grapewin, who is 68, lives on a fabulous ranch 50 miles from Hollywood and doesn't like to leave it. In his large Pompeian bathroom he has a bar on which he chins himself regularly every morning. We came upon Linda Darnell eating breakfast in a little coffee shop across from Columbia studio, where she's making a loan-out picture. Linda owns the most photogenic face in Hollywood, by unanimous vote on the screen's still photographers.

Now, what do you think her first real meal of the day should consist of—peaches and cream? Not this glamor girl. Linda was getting away with a hot dog, liberally doused with mustard. And a bottle of pop! . . . Robert Cummings is playing his first role as airplane pilot in "Princess O'Rourke," at Warners. "I've always been disqualified for such a part in the past," said Bob, "because casting directors said I wasn't the type." Cummings has been flying for 15 years, owns two planes and has more than 1,000 hours of flying time to his credit.

MY DAY: Right of Criticism Implies Loyalty

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK CITY, Tuesday.—I had a very pleasant trip to Orange, N. J., yesterday, but both going and coming I almost missed getting off the train! On such short journeys, if I am interested in a book, I am very apt to forget how many stations I passed.

Last evening I was very sorry not to be able to go to the meeting sponsored by the youth division of the Russian War Relief, at which the three young Russians who came over here as delegates to the International Student Assembly were tendered a final farewell. They came down to my apartment when the meeting was over, however, to say good-bye, and sat around for a few minutes drinking coffee and eating coffee cake.

In his speech, the head of the Moscow youth organization, Nikolai Kravchenko, says that their trip has given them a better understanding of the youth of this country. They are going back with a sense of gratitude for the real friendliness which has been shown them on all sides. They have traveled with Dutch, Chinese, British and American young people, and they have come to realize that the objectives of the United Nations, now and in the future, are very much the same. We approach them in different ways and each nation fights and plans in its own way.

Out of their associations these young people have acquired the knowledge of this similarity of objectives in different countries, that we all have something to learn from each other, and all have something of value to contribute to the achievement of a better world.

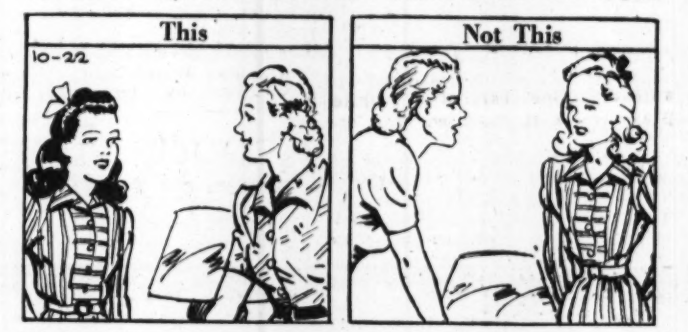

One of the freedoms which we hold dear in this country is the right to criticize our own government. I noticed in the newspaper this morning that a very high-placed gentleman in the Republican party made some slightly critical comments on the manner in which this war is being conducted. It reminded me of a little story in an editorial by Clarence Woodbury.

He starts out to tell what the various people in his air raid warden sector say in answer to the question of "What are we fighting for?" One of the men, a tavern keeper whose business has gone down since motorists have become scarce, grumbled: "There are some people in Washington who ought to have their heads examined." One of the men at the bar took him up on that. He told Joe he ought to be reported to the FBI for making such an unpatriotic remark.

The argument was getting hot, when Ed Burns, who was listening, came to Joe's defense. "Let's leave the witch hunting to the Nazis," Ed said. "We've got a right to cut out the government, thank God, as long as we are loyal to it."

Salt May Help the Feeling of Languor

By Dr. William Brady.

So-called "tropical languor" which many visitors or newcomers to the dry warm southwest experience, especially in the first few days, manifests itself as weakness, excessive fatigue, lack of appetite and sometimes nausea. If the victim happens to be at a greater altitude than he is accustomed to, he wonders whether he has this "mountain sickness" he has heard about. Or again he fears he may have contracted typhoid fever or some such disease and is feeling the first symptoms. If he has not been particularly active he is not aware that he has been sweating more than usual, for in the dry air sweat evaporates as rapidly as it is excreted and so the newcomer doesn't realize he's sweating at all.

The cause of the "languor" is salt deficiency, from loss of more salt than usual, in the sweat, and failure to restore the salt supply the tissues and cells demand for normal functioning. The victim may perhaps notice that the thirst-like sensation he feels is not relieved or satisfied by cold water or other beverages. For relief of the thirst-like sensation and all the other symptoms of "tropical languor" salt or salt-deficiency it is essential to take five or 10 grains of common table salt with every large glassful of water or other beverage; or say a scant teaspoonful in the pint of water or other drink; or, if preferred, some highly salted item of food with each drink.

One need not go to a warm dry climate to get "tropical languor." Fact is that millions of misguided Americans suffer more or less from this condition in their homes, offices, shops, churches, theaters in the coldest months of the year.

ed Americans (perhaps excepting some of the young women these days) customarily wear excessively heavy clothing all winter, not for comfort but just because they vaguely believe excessive clothing "protects" them against nobody knows what.

MISS NELLE SNOW.

Miss Nelle Snow's Betrothal To Mr. Garner Announced

FORT VALLEY, Ga., Oct. 21.—Engaging the interest of friends throughout the state is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. William Leon Snow, of Fort Valley, of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Nelle Snow, to Marshall Berry Garner, of Warthen. The marriage will be solemnized at an afternoon ceremony at 4 o'clock on November 7 at the Methodist church here, the date marking the 26th wedding anniversary of the groom-elect's parents.

Miss Snow's mother, before her marriage, was Miss Corinne Bradlock, daughter of Willie Virginia Roberts and the late Galveston Bradlock. Her paternal grandparents are Elizabeth Harwell Snow and the late Munro Forsyth Snow, and the late Corinne Snow, of Fort Valley, is her only sister.

Miss Wallace Becomes Bride Of Mr. Snipes

Miss Laura Wallace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence A. Wallace, became the bride of Z. A. Snipes Jr. yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Cathedral of St. Philip, with the families and a few close friends in attendance.

The altar was beautifully decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums arranged in pedestal baskets. A musical program was presented by Mrs. Margie Griffith.

Mrs. Clyde Harling, the groom's sister, was the matron of honor and only attendant. She was gowning in a woodland rose crepe model made with a draped skirt. Her accessories were black and she wore pale lavender orchids.

Mr. Wallace gave his daughter in marriage, and the groom's best man was Page Morris. The bride's beauty was offset by her wedding ensemble of royal blue velvet featuring a full skirt and a sweetheart neckline. She wore a black velvet hat trimmed in a black veil. Her accessories were black and her flowers were purple-throated white orchids. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls.

Mrs. Wallace, mother of the bride, was becomingly gowning in defense blue crepe trimmed in a silver metallic design. Her accessories were black and her flowers were orchids. Mrs. Z. A. Snipes, the groom's mother, was gowning in air force blue crepe made with a design of cut steel beads. Her hat was cranberry-colored felt and her accessories were black. She wore purple orchids.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were hosts at a buffet supper at their home on Lakeview avenue with only the two families and close friends present.

MRS. ARTHUR JAMIESON.

Miss Anne Moseley Marries Lt. Arthur Jamieson, U. S. A.

An announcement of interest is that made today of the marriage of Miss Anne Moseley to Lieutenant Arthur Jamieson, of Fort Monmouth, N. J., formerly of Aberdeen, S. D., which took place last evening.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Dr. Roger Bosworth, brother of the groom, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Moseley, on Monroe drive. A musical program was presented by J. T. Pittman.

Miss Virginia Lee Merckle, of Louisville, Ky., cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor, and only attendant. She was gowning in gold crepe made with a V-neckline outlined in sequins. Her flowers were tallisman roses.

The bride's beauty was offset by her wedding gown of gray pink mouseline de soie posed over a chartreuse mouseline skirt. The bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and short puffed sleeves. Her veil was of mouseline, and she carried a bouquet of tallisman roses and orchids. She wore a platinum and diamond bracelet, the gift of the groom, and an heirloom necklace, given her by her aunt, Mrs. Thomas H. Swope, of Kansas City, Mo.

Reports Feature Meeting Of Child Welfare Group

The Child Welfare Association met recently in the rooms of the Association, Mrs. John Rutland, president, in the chair.

Mrs. Bolling Gay gave the report of the medical committee, emphasizing immunization methods employed on all children under care and other health protection measures.

Miss Florence Van Sicker, executive secretary, is president of the Regional Conference of the Child Welfare League of America which meets in Savannah November 17, 18, 19. Notable authorities in child welfare work from all over America will be present to discuss past experiences and the preparation for the ever-increasing demands for child care. Mrs. Henrietta Krohn has been chosen to represent this region at a conference of the Child Welfare League of America in New York by reason of her outstanding work in the field of case supervision.

Speaking of the need for good boarding homes, Mrs. Rutland said: "The number of children who need the care of the Child Welfare Association is rapidly increasing and I am sure there are many fine mothers who would open homes to other children if they knew of the foster home care of the association. There are three groups here in Atlanta vitally interested in stimulating interest in boarding homes for children, the Children's Division of the Fulton County Welfare Department, the Hebrew Orphans' Home and our association. We are hoping to arrange a combined meeting with a speaker who will promote the growth of the boarding home care."

You Women Who Suffer From

HOT FLASHES then CHILLY FEELINGS

If you—like so many women between the ages of 35 and 50—suffer from hot flashes, weak, dizzy, nervous feelings, distress of "irregularities", are blue at times—due to the functional middle age period in a woman's life—try taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. It's the best known medicine you can buy that's made especially for women.

Pinkham's Compound is famous to relieve such distress. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such annoying symptoms. It also is a fine stomachic tonic. Thousands upon thousands of women—rich and poor alike—have reported benefits. Time and again Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound has proved some women's happiest days often can be during their "40's". Follow label directions. Worth trying!

Taking the Blame

Coach Wally Butts was reviewing the Ole Miss-Georgia game in a movie session with the Bulldog squad. The pictures of each game are studied afterwards to correct flaws in individual and team performance.

When the reel flashed Sophomore Conerly's 88-yard punt return for a touchdown, Coach Butts sighed and said, "My fault, boys, my fault."

The boys were a bit startled, according to an observer. Wally concluded: "Yes, it was my fault. I should have got him when he passed our bench!"

Ken Stambaugh, a citizen of Demorest and news-reel cameraman of first rank, called early yesterday. "Have you had your breakfast?" Ken inquired. "If so, hustle down to Eastman's and I'll be glad to show you color pictures of the Georgia-Tulane game."

Now, this was something. Breakfast could wait. I saw the tussle between Alabama and Tennessee Saturday and was a bit curious to know how Georgia looked swamping the Tulane Green Wave.

The color pictures of Ken Stambaugh are the answer for a clear study of the game in complete detail.

I hadn't realized Georgia scored an early touchdown which wasn't allowed. I had missed the fact that Lamar Davis twice missed passes which were good for other touchdowns. One pass he caught and slung out of his hands as he turned to run.

Then, again, there was a remarkable bit of action.

George Poschner had caught a pass and was flat on the ground. A Tulane player sailed through the air to fall on him.

He then got the surprise of his life. Poschner was in perfect position to turn the Tulane player a somersault with his feet and thus avoided being roughed.

Keuper's clever sidestepping... Trippi's elusiveness in a broken field... Todd's brilliant open field touchdown dash... Sinkwich's running and passing... and Georgia's blocking are emphasized in Stambaugh's pictures.

Red Menace

Alabama's red-shirted behemoths loom as a real menace to our state schools, Georgia and Tech, both unbeaten and untied.

We'll say, for the sake of argument, that Alabama has played only two football teams. Southwestern Louisiana and Pensacola just don't count.

Anyway, Alabama has yielded only six points.

Mississippi State scored as the shadows lengthened in the fourth quarter. Kermit Davis, a Tuscaloosa boy, caught a pass from Billy Murphy, substitute Maroon tailback, and crossed the Alabama goal line.

Bama had subs on the field.

Tennessee came no closer than the 25-yard line last Saturday.

Alabama has limited the combined opposition to 20 first downs, and yielded only 405 yards on rushing and passing plays.

Up to now Alabama has worn opponents out in the first half and gone to town in the third quarter. Forty-three of the Tide's 110 points have been registered in this period.

It was remarkable, no less, the manner in which Alabama handled Mississippi State, last year's conference champ, and rough-and-ready Tennessee.

One thought occurs about the forthcoming Georgia-Alabama game at Grant Field, a week from Saturday.

Wally Butts has never yet lost twice in a row to any foe. Remember that Tulane beat Georgia at New Orleans. Remember, too, that Ole Miss romped on Georgia in the first game, was tied in the second and routed in the third.

There is something more tangible behind this than superstition. And yet Alabama, on the record, clearly is shown to be one of the great Tide teams of all time.

It will be interesting to keep this sidelight in mind when the Tide and Bulldogs collide in a mighty encounter.

Another Side

Comes, at last, a letter from a football follower who isn't a graduate of any southern school. He cites facts and figures as to why the south can hold its head up in any gridiron competition.

Having heard from all sides as to which is superior—south or midwest—it is interesting to read the observations of J. T. Green, as follows:

"Decatur, Ga., Oct. 20, 1942.

"Dear Mr. Troy:

"In re the letter in your column today, signed by three soldiers stationed at Moultrie, Ga., as to relative merits of Big Ten and Southeastern Conference football, will you please permit the writer a few side observations, as there seems to be a disposition on the part of some persons to deny due credit to the south. The Big Ten is a strong organization, one Atlanta sports writer on an afternoon paper going so far as to say that it (the B. T.) is stronger than the S. E. Conference, year in year out!

"Well (as a famous politician was wont to say), let's look at the record! Here are a few scores between Big Ten and S. E. C. that come to mind: Vanderbilt beat Minnesota two out of three on Minn.'s home field—Vandy 16; Minn. 0; Vandy 6, Minn. 15; Vandy 33, Minn. 7. (Let 'em laugh that one off!) In two games with mighty Michigan, when Big Ten champion, Vandy 0, Mich. 3; Vandy 9, Mich. 0—some what close. Vanderbilt beat Ohio State, running up 26 points in the first half, believe it or not—and on O. S.'s home gridiron. Vandy played Purdue in 1941 and 1942, winning both while blanking Purdue in each game.

"Auburn tied Ohio State, 0-0, the year the latter was Big Ten champion. Tulane played two with Northwestern on the latter's home field, losing one and winning the other, 18 to 7. There have been but a few games between Western and S. E. Conference teams, as Midwestern teams usually confine their competition to each other. They are good and strong, too, there is no denying that—but the record demonstrates that they have generally found, on those occasions when they DID play S. E. Conference teams, that the southern boys are much easier to defeat on paper than when bumping up against them in realistic combat! (Or so it would seem.) Every one of the games mentioned (except one of the Mich. games) was played on Midwestern gridirons; and it is accepted fact that a visiting team (especially one from a considerable distance) works under a real handicap.

"As to the implication that teams from this section wouldn't be very potent without the aid of northern boys, permit me to say, in all fairness to the several very fine 'Yank' players on some southern squads, giving special recognition to such outstanding stars as Sinkwich, Poschner, Trippi, and others, that the personnel making up the southern teams mentioned above, in their competition with Big Ten elevens, was made up exclusively of native southerners, also the fact that, out of the great galaxy of stars enrolled in professional football, few names indeed shine so brightly as do those of Don Hutson, of Alabama; Ace Parker, of Duke; Sammy Baugh, of Texas Christian; Gaynell Tinsley, of L. S. U.; Parker Hall, of Ole Miss; Aldrich, of T. C. U., to mention only a few native southerners. Parker Hall, of Ole Miss, and Ace Parker, of Duke, on different years have been voted the greatest players in both leagues, to say nothing of Baugh and others. Two of the best players Purdue ever turned out were Welch and Isbell, both southerners. If southerners are not 'good' down here at home, how come it that they shine so brilliantly 'up yonder'? (Jock Sutherland stated that Ace Parker is the greatest back he ever coached.)

"Lastly, as to the statement by the boys that Big Ten teams refuse to play 'Bowl' games, that is undoubtedly true—NOW. But—once Ohio State played a 'Bowl' game—at Pasadena against California—and Ohio State lost—to the tune of 28 to 0! (And the Big Ten hasn't played a 'Bowl' game since. It is ineffectual—or something.) Ohio State was Big Ten champion that year.

"Yours very truly,

"J. T. GREEN.

South's 'Big 3' Nation's Best, Expert Says

Tech, Alabama or Georgia Seen as National Grid Champion.

By EDWARD W. COCHRANE. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(INS)—The southland's "big three"—Georgia, Georgia Tech and Alabama—are on the march.

If you can name a team that can beat them you can name the national collegiate champion eleven of 1942, without fear of anyone offering anything in rebuttal that could be taken seriously.

Bill Alexander, the old fox of Dixie gridirons, is going to parade his "Rambling Wrecks" into the Navy stadium at Annapolis Saturday for the purpose of sinking the Middle. He will do that with such finesse that there will be no doubt whatever that his boys from down in the Cracker country will demonstrate fully superiority over such entries.

In fact, it may be that Tech will be the champion of the Southeast conference when football warfare is concluded along about December 1, but before acquiring such a title, old Alex's men are going to have to dispose of both of their rivals.

It is unfortunate that there isn't a round-robin this fall among those three, Ohio State, Army, Boston College, Tulsa and Texas Christian.

It never is possible when the campaign opens to tell accurately just what will be the eight most powerful elevens in the nation. Maybe these eight are not, but they have demonstrated to date that they'll do a pretty good job proving it if anyone cares to dispute their claims.

There is little doubt that the Big Ten and the battle of Dixie's "Big Three," will occupy the center of the gridiron spotlight for some time after this week's skirmishes are disposed of.

No finger of suspicion that any of those three have framed easy schedules can be pointed this or any other year. Football is so good down south of the Mason and Dixon Line, as shown by the trouncing Colgate took from Duke, that there aren't any "breathers" to be passed around and they are asking no quarter any way. They like to battle and they find plenty of it.

Take the Georgia Tech schedule as example No. 1. Following Navy they meet Duke, Kentucky, Alabama, Florida and Georgia in the order named. If the Wrecks survive that, they can lay claim to the national title and offer plenty of evidence in support of the claim.

Georgia meets Cincinnati, Alabama, Florida, Chattanooga, Auburn and Georgia Tech in that order. Chattanooga is the only real breather there.

But take a gander at Alabama's list—Kentucky, Georgia, South Carolina, Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt and Georgia Pre-Flight, as listed.

Tech Blocking, Timing Faulty In Scrimmage

Last Pre-Game Skirmish Set Today; Jordan Is Injured.

By JOHNNY BRADBERRY.

Georgia Tech tucked the season's longest and hardest scrimmage under their belts yesterday and prepared for a lighter workout this afternoon before boarding a train for Annapolis and its game with Navy Saturday.

The Yellow Jackets, with their working time cut because of the weather Tuesday, really went through the paces in the scrimmage. The first team worked for an hour and a half on offense and defense against Navy plays and then took to the tackling dummies while the reserves kept up the battering against the Red Devils.

The drill was far from satisfactory. The varsity had little trouble stopping the Red Devils, but was unable to make much headway while on offense. Hard running by Pat McHugh and Clint Castleberry was the most cheering note.

FOOT BLOCKING. Otherwise there was little for coaches to be pleased about. Blocking was lacking and timing was badly off.

McHugh this season has lived up to all expectations and right now is probably the hardest runner on the team, in addition to being the fastest. He showed great promise as a freshman, but was plagued by injuries last year.

Tech may have lost a first-string guard for the Navy game. Jack Jordan received a lick on his back during the scrimmage and left the field early for an examination. Nothing definite would be known until today, however.

CHANGING MADE. Otherwise, with the exception of Ralph Plaster and Jack Hancock, the team is in good shape. Plaster didn't take part in the scrimmage, but is expected to be ready by game time.

A minor change in the varsity squad was made this week when Coach Alexander moved Jack Faulkner up from the Red Devils and switched his brother, Al, to fullback. Jack plays blocking back and despite his smallness, is one of the best tacklers on the team.

The switch gives the Jackets two sets of brothers on the varsity squad. The other two are Preston and Marion West, the former a tackle and the latter a center. Players making the trip include: ENDS—R. Jordan, Marshall, Page, Richter, Helms and Crawford. TACKLES—Anderson, Scales, P. West, Staten, Healey and Harter. GUARDS—Harty, Ryckley, Beall, J. Jordan, Morrow and Skinner. CENTERS—Manning, Lowry and M. West. BACKS—Stein, A. Faulkner, Kuhn, J. Faulkner, Eldredge, Prokop, Morris, Castleberry, McHugh, Plaster, Luck, Dodd and Sheldon.

Alsab and Shut Out Beaten by Filly

Derby Winner Fourth in Loss To Discovery

Sab Runs Length Behind for Second Place at Jamaica.

By SID FEDER.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The glamour boys of the three-year-olds, Alsab and Shut Out, were so intent on watching each other in the Gallant Fox Handicap today that a four-year-old filly who wasn't supposed to have a look-in just about "stole" the $11,300 pot from them.

She was Dark Discovery, a front-running daughter of Discovery from the stable of the Virginia breeder, John A. Bell Jr., and while the Sab and Shut Out—and their riders—spent the time being over-cautious about what each other was going to do, they let the dark chestnut filly scamper away out in front and hold on to grab the bankroll.

Alsab turned loose some "lick" to finish second to Dark Discovery in the mile-and-five-eighths tussle. Shut Out wound up a well-waloped fourth, without showing much interest in the proceedings at any stage of the affair.

But neither of the big horses gave Discovery's daughter—a $37,800 for $2 shot—a "rumble" today, and in the end it cost them the pay check.

Dark Discovery was clocked in 2:44 1/5 after a slow first mile in 1:41—time which Alsab and Shut Out should be able to beat without musing their hair.

And this made it all the more obvious that Shut Out and Alsab forgot all about the others in the race, particularly the chestnut miss, while they spent the time telling each other how good they were.

Trailing the winner and the Sab at the end was Marriage, two lengths back of Alsab.

Lanier Hopes To Halt Purple String Tonight

Poets 'Loaded' for Clash at Ponce de Leon; North Fulton, Russell Vie in East Point.

By CHARLIE ROBERTS.
"The Purple Hurricane shall not blow tonight" is the battle cry of the Lanier Poets, one of the best prep teams in Georgia, as they surge into Atlanta from Macon with high hopes of putting an end to Boys' High's great victory streak when the two elements vie at 8 o'clock tonight at Ponce de Leon Park in one of the most important G. I. A. A. games of the current season.

Coach Stogee Davis comes north with a team of youngsters who have blood in their eyes and vengeance in their hearts, for the Poets have been humbled by the Purple for the past five years now, and this year the Maconites believe they have team enough to halt the Shorty Doyle brigade, which has not tasted one defeat in the past 29 games played.

Davis has prepared well for this game, and Backfield Coach Jenkins, who has scouted every Purple tilt to date, is boasting the Poets will take the wind out of the Hurricane. Last year Jenkins was head mentor at Jordan High in Columbus, and his outfit was humbled, 45 to 0, by Boys' High in the current season.

Student tickets and tickets for sideline men will be 25 cents, and adult tickets 50 cents. Only adult tickets will be on sale at Grant field Saturday.

Dark Makes Outlook Bright
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 21.—(AP)—Although Vanderbilt doesn't clash with Louisiana State on the gridiron this fall, Commodore Scout Here Alley today described Alvin Dark, Tiger sophomore sensation, as "the sweetest tailback I have seen this season."

"Dark could help any team in the conference right now," added Alley, who saw the Tiger star romp against Ole Miss last Saturday night.

North Fulton Plays Russell Tonight
Russell High, N. G. I. C. defending champions, undefeated in four conference games thus far this season, will meet North Fulton at 8 o'clock tonight at East Point in the headline on this week's conference program.

The Bulldogs are given a good chance to upset the favored Wildcats. In their last start, the Bulldogs tied strong Decatur, 7 to 6. Jack Pierce, tailback, and Captain Charlie McMullen, end, are two of the best players in the N. G. I. C., and are expected to be very much in evidence against the Wildcats.

Bo Dempsey and Foster Ratteree, Russell's big offensive duo, are in top shape. These boys, together with the rest of the battling Russells, will be out to even the score for that 7-to-6 defeat North Fulton handed them last year.

Star End Lost By Morris Brown
James Landrum, outstanding end at Morris Brown College, left for Fort Benning yesterday along with hundreds of other draftees including Monk Favors, Clark College star halfback. They were inducted into the Army Tuesday.

Coaches Nicks and Lockhart, mentors for the hard-hit Wolverines who play Florida A. & M. College here Saturday, are grooming another flankman to take Landrum's place. Several likely newcomers to the squad this year are fighting for the job.

Morris Brown held their last scrimmage for the Florida game Wednesday afternoon. The last two days will be spent in a review of plays and signals.

BASEBALL YET
HAVANA, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Cuba's baseball team won the championship of the amateur "World Series" tournament yesterday when Venezuela defeated the Dominican Republic, 10-7, in the final game of the round-robin series at Tropical stadium.

'Bugs' Baer Says:
We've just discovered that sending a man on a boy's errand is also bad strategy.

The Army has been drafting old beezarks up to 45 who haven't got enough strength to slap ketchup out of a bottle.

Now we're going after the youngsters who are as tough as leather noodles and about the right size to look a Jap in the eye.

All wars are steamed up old chefs who cannot eat their own cooking. When action starts they have to step aside and let the springers take over.

Now there's only two more improvements to make. Let 'em drink at 12 and vote at 6. They marry at 14 in the hills.

N. C. Favored Over Tulane By Williamson

Tech, Georgia, Skyrackers, Notre Dame, Eagles Picked To Win.

By PAUL B. WILLIAMSON.
For the second consecutive week Coach Frank Leahy's surprising Fighting Irish team of Notre Dame grabs the spotlight on football games of the week. The Irish journey to Champaign, Ill., to try and stop another surprising outfit of this season, the fighting Illinois of Illinois University. Notre Dame has only six-tenths of a point advantage in the rating over Illinois, the system takes the Irish on the strength of that slim margin and in the belief that they may be just as inspired against the charges of Coach Ray Eliot, who has so far brought the Illini to this point undefeated and untied, as they were last week against the Iowa Preflighters.

Another important game which may decide the general championship of the Pacific coast will be the clash of the Uclans entertaining Santa Clara at Los Angeles. On the strength of the ratings we take Coach Buck Shaw's Broncos of Santa Clara.

Aside from these two games none of the others this week are strictly critical ones. In what should be very close scrambles, according to the ratings, the Williamson System picks Texas over Rice, California over Washington, Syracuse over Cornell, North Carolina over Tulane, Indiana over Iowa, and Nebraska over Oklahoma.

Other close games include Georgia over Detroit, Iowa Preflight over St. Mary's Preflight, Georgia Preflight over Louisiana State, Marquette over Arizona, Oregon State over Washington State, Princeton over Brown, Pennsylvania over Columbia, Clemson over South Carolina.

Two surprising predictions are Baylor over Texas A&M and Ole Miss over Arkansas.

Some other games of the week are fairly easy to predict according to the Williamson ratings, but may give some upsets. For example: Mississippi State over Florida, Duquesne over Manhattan, Rollins over Miami of Florida, Michigan over Minnesota, Duke over Pittsburgh, Oregon over Villanova, Boston College over Wake Forest, St. Mary's College over Loyola, San Francisco over San Jose, and Catawba over Presbyterian.

EXPLANATION: Figure after each team is its Williamson Rating according to the National Football Rating Table, published earlier this week. PROBABLE WINNERS ARE CAPITAL LETTERS. N, night game.

Bulldogs, 36 Strong, Leave for Cincinnati

Three Ohio Boys—Sinkwich, Poschner, McPhee—Will Start Against Bearcats Saturday.

By F. M. WILLIAMS.
ATHENS, Ga., Oct. 21.—Georgia's football team finished up practice for Saturday's intercollegiate clash with the University of Cincinnati, with a long defensive scrimmage this afternoon. Freshmen operating from Cincinnati formations made little headway against the varsity.

Coach Wallace Butts will take his crew, consisting of approximately 36 men, to Cincinnati tomorrow, by day coach. The team leaves at 5:30 Thursday morning and will arrive in the Ohio city late that night.

A light workout will be held in the Cincinnati stadium Friday afternoon.

Coach Butts will start his usual lineup against the Bears, with three Ohio boys answering the opening whistle.

In the backfield with Sinkwich and McPhee will be Lamar Davis and Red Keuper.

The game will be homecoming for Cincinnati and Coach Butts is expecting to run up against an inspired eleven. He has already been warned to expect to face a big line and a lightning fast bunch of backs.

Terror-Steele Winner To Get Shot at Champ

Ray Steele, who chased heavy-weight wrestling champions for many years, finally catching up with one and winning the crown, only to lose his much sought after title on a fluke, is going to get another opportunity to win the championship.

Announcement was made yesterday that the winner of the match Friday night at the auditorium between the Golden Terror and Steele will be given an immediate shot at Bill Longston, the colorful National Wrestling Association titleholder, who has not yet appeared in this section.

The Terror has never been beaten. Steele, who has ranked one-two-three in wrestling for 15 years, is as good today, or better than he ever was, in the opinion of critics, who point out that a man never reaches his full potentialities as a wrestler until he reaches his mid-forties.

Steele used to meet and beat all comers here under the name of Pete Sauer. The brilliant Greek is a real fire-ball and will be favored to pin the gigantic Terror.

Harsh Criticism

The report of the special house committee on National Defense Migration is a harsh criticism of the nation's leaders in the war effort. In recommending creation of a new, super control board over all war agencies, the committee may, or may not, have suggested the most feasible remedy for what faults may exist in the present set-up.

However, there will undoubtedly be a tendency among the people as a whole to suspect the accuracy of the report. In the first place, the very harshness of its sweeping denunciation makes it suspect. In view of the admittedly great progress we have made in our war program, some things must have been handled right, or at least approximately so. We could scarcely have created, within a year, and largely trained, an army of more than 3,000,000 men if our leaders were as incompetent as the committee report infers. Nor could our war factories, shipyards and other features of the war program, have made the progress in production they have made, without some wise organization and direction.

Thus, when the committee states "those officials who have charge of the war production program, including the mobilization of manpower, have not yet grasped the meaning of modern war," all of us have a feeling that the condemnation is too sweeping to be based upon accurate realism.

That there are faults in the war program direction is undoubtedly true. That is inevitable in any human undertaking. That some of these faults are serious is likewise true. That we have been, in many cases, slow to correct some abuses is an inevitable result of the democratic way of doing things. Not only war leaders, but the nation as a whole has found it difficult to grasp the true meaning of modern war. Such a slowness to understand cannot be avoided when it involves so radical a departure from our normal ways of peaceful, democratic life.

Proper organization and utilization of the nation's manpower is, undoubtedly, far from achievement. Solution of that problem is the next big task facing the administration and the congress. Drastic changes in labor laws, in labor union customs and regulations must be made. Customs which have, in the past, been regarded as individual rights, must be waived for the duration. The nation must arise, completely united, and force complete regulation, regardless of sacrifice, for most efficient operation of the war program. Class, group and sectional advantages must be foregone, must be forgotten. The privileges and perquisites of the individual must be relegated to their proper place—which is that they count as nothing, until the war is won.

This may mean such control that we shall become, to all intents and purposes, a regimented state until the war is won. What of it? The American way of life, the American freedom of individual action will be restored stronger and more perfect than before, after the war is done. In the meantime, we can well afford to be regimented when it is for the waging of total war and the achievement of total victory.

Soldiers are regimented. And we must realize, once and for all, that the true meaning of modern war is that there is no individual, man, woman or child, who is not a soldier, fighting in one way or another, and who should not be subject to the same discipline as the uniformed men of the fighting forces.

Meatless Days

It matters very little what plan is finally adopted for conservation of the nation's meat supply, there can be no doubt the public will accept any restrictions suggested or imposed. For the people of this nation are today in mood to accept any sacrifice that may be called for provided only it results in strengthening ourselves and our allies for the crucial war tests ahead.

Whether "meatless days," meat rationing or a voluntary system of lessened meat consumption is adopted, the people will go along. And any fears that meatless days may invoke hardship on anyone can well be forgotten at once.

Those who remember the days of the first World War remember too the meatless days observed then. On specified days each week no one ate meat at all. There were, too, stringent restrictions on the use of sugar and other commodities and flour was special war flour, to be made into war bread. The white bread of normal times disappeared during that war.

And there was comparatively little hardship involved, then. Why there should be any greater hardship today is difficult to understand.

Chile Changes

The resignation of the Chilean cabinet of President Rios undoubtedly foreshadows a cleanup of Axis agents in the South American republic, and it is just barely possible Chile will break off relations with Germany, Italy and Japan.

German influence in Chile has been strong for many years and in the midwestern section of the country there are communities almost entirely German. Nazi propaganda naturally has been widespread and agents of the Axis have been able to work with impunity despite the fact the majority of the people are intensely democratic.

Foreign Minister Barris Jarpa has been strongly pro-Axis, to the extent that the resignation of the cabinet was made necessary to clarify a serious situation in which Jarpa successfully balked at attempts of other American republics to swing Chile into co-operation against enemy agents.

The explanation of the Santiago government has been that the small republic is extremely vulnerable to attack, with its extended coastline. Its well organized German minority threatens its internal security. War has hit its economy a terrific blow.

However, other Latin American nations have made equally difficult decisions and adjustments. The resignation of the cabinet clears the way for action on the part of the Chilean government paralleling those of other neighbors to the south.

"Ain't Heard Nothin', Yet!"

Henry J. Kaiser, wizard of American shipbuilding, recently launched a 10,500-ton Liberty ship only ten days after the laying of the keel. Recently the Italian radio made comment upon this feat.

"Impossible," said the Italians. Then Paul Joseph Goebbels, the Nazi propaganda chief of notorious unreliability, made his comment.

"The Americans are no better liars than Churchill," said Goebbels.

All right, rats, all right. Don't believe it if you prefer not to. It is all to our advantage if you can't believe facts about America and the war. We know when you are lying, anyway. Which is almost all the time.

But, if you really believe a ship built in ten days is impossible, wait until Kaiser beats his own record. And wait until a few other American war producers get into full swing.

A ship in ten days? Why, in the words of an American comedian of stage, screen and radio, "you ain't heard nothin' yet!"

—WE MUST FORGET SELF IN WARTIME!—

A Washington observer says there are still those in the capital who aren't sold on Kaiser the shipbuilder. They think the freighter in ten days was beginner's luck.

More and more, the old similarity between death and taxes becomes an illusion, as death doesn't become 300 per cent tougher from year to year.

Georgia Editors Say:

TWO YEARS' NOTICE

(From The Moultrie Observer)
Editor H. W. Garret, owner and publisher, printer and circulation manager of the Doerun Courier, makes a statement in the last issue of his paper that he is going out of business. He gives ample time to all parties interested to adjust themselves to the change. He will wait two years before he prints and mails the final edition of the Courier and closes up shop. The Courier has been published under the present management for 23 years. Editor Garret is ambitious to round out 23 years of newspaper service. The readers of the Courier will sympathize with Editor Garret as they read his statement that it is falling eyesight that is driving him out of publishing business. He says his eyes are failing him rapidly and will do well to last him two more years.

The Doerun Courier has come to be an institution in Colquitt county. It is unlike any other paper in the state. The paper reflects the mind and the idiosyncrasies of the editor. He says what he thinks and does what he likes to do. We wonder why Mr. Garret does not announce that he will sell the Courier at the end of the next two years. Maybe he thinks no one else could run it. We are assured no one else could run it as he has run it. He probably would not want anyone else to run it any other way. The Observer hopes that his eyes will take a turn for the better and that the Courier will go on indefinitely. We would miss it very much from our exchange table. We do not always agree with what the editor says but we are always entertained by the way he says it.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

CONGRESS SPEEDS UP WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Congress has shown a remarkable burst of speed lately that is an adequate answer to some of the criticism heard earlier in the summer.

Within the short space of about six weeks it has disposed of—also, the activity of farm pressure groups in opposing a price ceiling at parity on agricultural products made it embarrassing for members to face this issue.

It is always a political liability to vote new taxes, and the opposition of parents to the induction of 18 and 19-year-old youths was such that many members hesitated to commit themselves to this proposition until it was shown to be an absolute military necessity. Also, the activity of farm pressure groups in opposing a price ceiling at parity on agricultural products made it embarrassing for members to face this issue.

CREDIT IS DUE But election or no election, congress has shown its mettle by meeting the issues squarely. The controversial legislation has been disposed of in record time, once a headlong stampede was made. All the more credit is due in view of the fact that the several measures were passed on the very eve of the elections, the effect of which is to make them more of an issue than if they had been passed earlier in the year.

The latest congressional spurt dates back to President Roosevelt's Labor Day address in which he urged more drastic price control legislation to prevent inflation. Before that there had been some disposition on the part of individual congressmen to coddle their constituents. Too many of them were unduly worried over their chances for getting re-elected.

But the reaction of the country to the President's message was that the people did not want to be coddled. They revealed themselves ready to make all the sacrifices necessary to win the war and expressed resentment over delay in the passage of legislation vital to the war cause. Congress responded by swinging into action immediately. The tempo has been stepping up ever since.

NEED PUBLIC URGE It is no reflection on congress to say any legislative body of 531 members (435 in the house and 96 in the senate) proceedings are naturally tortuous. Controversial measures are not passed without supporting sentiment welling up from the country. Once the country reveals itself to be behind a course of action, congress can always be relied upon to do its part.

Thus we had repeal of the Volstead Act and resubmission of the prohibition amendment long before anyone expected. The 1932 election convinced congress that the country was tired of bootlegging and the noble experiment. Repeal measures were shot through in no time.

Any political body depending on popular favor for continuance in office is naturally cautious about precipitating issues which may be the source of opposition in election campaigns. It is only human nature for a certain amount of timidity to be manifest under such circumstances. Hence, congress usually waits for the country not only to catch up with it in support of a given proposal, but actually to go beyond it. There is no record of congress having refused to pass some bill which the sentiment of the country was strongly behind.

SUGGESTION TO GROUPS Since congressional delays are generally the product of a listless constituency, all of this suggests a method by which congressional action might be speeded up. If a way could be found for greater public discussion of the various controversial legislative proposals as they are made ready, a helpful guide would be offered to congress, we could expect a more expeditious response from our national legislators.

In this connection a wide field would seem to be open to the various civic and fraternal organizations over the country. At their regular meetings, if they would program discussions of the kind and then send to their congressmen evidence of any division of sentiment on the subject, a helpful guide would be offered to legislative action. Undoubtedly such a procedure would be welcomed by congress, which is ever anxious for a direct feel of the public pulse.

So Your Boy Is Overseas

Well, sir, your son is in the Army. Already overseas. Either fighting already or just training and waiting for orders. He is the enemy. And you are mighty proud of him. Mighty proud.

Did you, however, think about your part in backing that son up? In providing for him, so that he shall have the best possible chance of coming home, after the war is done, alive and well and strong.

Of course, you can't go to war. You're too old and your physical condition wouldn't permit, anyway, even though you could chop a few years off your age record.

Well, let's look into that question of providing for that son of yours. You provided for him when he was a kid, at home, you know. You fed him and clothed him and met the cost of his education. When he was hurt, you gladly paid the doctor's bill and, when he required that little operation, you felt a special kind of pride in defraying his hospital expenses. You sent him away to the university and, though you did a bit of grumbling about his bills that you met, each month, nevertheless that grumbling was merely the camouflage, the defensive mechanism, so to speak, covering the new pride you felt in having a collegiate son and in being able to pay those bills.

Well, now, you can keep up that prideful feeling by paying his bills as a soldier. And seeing that he is the best equipped, best clothed, best fed, best paid soldier in all the world. An American soldier, in short.

How About His Pay?

He's a first class private, is he. They all can't be commissioned officers and there must be well-trained, intelligent, good privates if the war is to be won. Probably he's better off in the ranks, anyway, because he has no idea of making the Army a career after the war is over.

Well, he gets basic pay of $50 a month. With some added for overseas service and a few dollars more because he is a specialist of some sort.

That means $800 or $900 a year to provide his pay. Your income tax, for 1942, will just about meet that, let's say. If you make somewhere around $5,000 a year that will be approximately right.

All right, you're taking care of that expense.

But it takes a lot of money, in addition to the pay roll, to maintain an American soldier overseas.

He must be fed and clothed and housed. He must have a lot of things if he is to stay healthy and happy. There must be doctors to guard his health and hospitals to cure him if he is sick or injured.

There must be motorized equipment for his transportation and gasoline to make those trucks and tanks and jeeps and so on, run.

I think you'd better lay aside another $800 or $900 a year, in addition to that tax money, to be loaned to the government through your purchases of war bonds, to provide these things so necessary for that son of yours.

How About His Weapons?

Then there is the Tommy gun and the rifle and the anti-aircraft gun and the helmet and the helmet he wears. The truck he rides in. So many things that must be manufactured and which require steel and rubber and tin and so many other materials.

I reckon you'd better make a new search for stuff to go into the scrap heaps we are piling up. It would never do to permit our steel mills to operate at less than fullest capacity, because of a shortage of scrap metal. You'd feel mighty bad if the truck your son rides in was halted for lack of tires while your pleasure car, over here, still has five or six good ones.

And For His Morale.

Another thing, you want him kept happy and contented, don't you? That well-known word morale has a personal application to that soldier son of yours, you know.

So you'd better dig a little deeper into your finances and subscribe quite generously to the USO, the United War Work Fund and similar cases. So that there'll be plenty of the right sort of relaxation for that boy of yours, wherever he is.

All right, add it up. Taxes, war bonds, subscriptions to morale-boosting organizations and so on. Means at least two or three thousand bucks you rake in each year. High proportion, you say.

Well, what of it? Aren't you ready to put out half your income for your own son, when he needs it? Sure you are. You'd do more than that. You'd give your life for him if necessary. I know.

You and the lad's mother can get along on $2,500 a year if you try.

And be mighty proud about it all. Because, it is for your son.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Byrnes. NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Although the appointment of Justice James F. Byrnes to the position of director of economic stabilization has had general approval, it is clearly shown in the supreme court opinion which he delivered in the "teamsters' case" last winter that he is committed to the proposition that unions enjoy a legal right to increase prices by highway robbery and to waste manpower through the operation of the stand-by system.

That prosecution was brought by Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, under the anti-racketeering act, against 72 original defendants, 27 of whom had police or criminal records. It was the practice of Local 807, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, whose international president, Dan Tobin, is a political confidant and supporter of President Roosevelt and the New Deal, to hold up and rob by extortion, violence and threats, trucks entering the city of New York in interstate commerce.

In the words uttered by Justice Byrnes, himself: "There was sufficient evidence to warrant a finding that the defendants conspired to use and did use violence and threats to obtain from the owners of these 'over the road' trucks $9.52 for each large truck and $8.41 for each small truck entering the city." There was proof that in some cases the out-of-state driver was compelled to drive the truck to a point close to the city limits and there turn it over to one or more of the defendants. These defendants would then drive the truck to its destination, do the loading, pick up the merchandise for the return trip and surrender the truck to the out-of-state driver at the point where they had taken it over.

In other cases, according to the testimony, the money was demanded and obtained, but the owners or drivers rejected the offers of the defendants to do, or help with, the driving or unloading. And, in several cases, the jury could have found that the defendant either failed to offer to work or refused to work for the money when asked to do so.

Later, in the opinion Justice Byrnes held the congress "certainly" intended to except from the anti-racketeering act anybody who "attempts unsuccessfully by violent means to achieve the status of an employee and to secure wages for services."

He also said: "The doubtful case arises where the defendants agree to tender their services in good faith . . . but agree further that the protection of their trade union interests requires that he should pay an amount equivalent to the prevailing union wages if he rejects the proffered services. We think that such an agreement is covered by the exception."

In other words, Justice Byrnes, now charged with the duty of controlling civilian purchasing power, prices, wages and profits, believes that congress gave the unions the right to extort tribute from employers in the guise of wages for work not performed which costs obviously must be collected from the public by increased prices.

There is no limit on the amount of such extortion and the only way to avoid passing it on to the public in the form of increased prices is by subsidy to the employers.

Having fully justified the stand-by system, and having twisted the plain meaning of extortion into acceptance of money, Justice Byrnes next said: "It is not our province to approve or disapprove such tactics."

Apparently it was his intention to put the blame on congress for approving them, although it is to be doubted that congress ever did approve them or has any legal or moral right to grant to any favored group the right to obtain money for violence or threats.

Against The practical condition arrived at, how- ever, is one which Justice Byrnes now is expected to combat but cannot combat without reversing himself.

To prevent these and other needless increases in the cost of making and delivering of goods he must disown his beliefs so positively stated only last winter. And to cooperate with the rest of the government in the professed purpose to utilize manpower fully on actual work, and waste none on fake work, he must repudiate his expressed unconcern but strongly indicated approval of the stand-by system.

It would be hard to name a man more emphatically committed to abusive waste than the one who has been conquered by the director of economic stabilization.

Camp Gordon's total of northern and eastern troops at the close of the receiving station last night was increased to 7,000."

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

AMERICAN BOY Last week in Macon, Warren Luckey, of Harlem, Ga., was named Star Georgia Planter, the highest award the Future Farmers of America may give one of their members.

His story is an American story—the sort of story that is warp and woof of the fabric of this country. His story is a part of the legend—the American legend.

He was 11 years old when his father died. He dropped out of school to manage the family's rented farm. He struggled with it. He saw something was wrong. He didn't know enough. It was not just a matter of the land being there; of plowing it, harrowing it, planting it, working it.

At 17 he went back to school. He entered the vocational education department in which he could study agriculture. He now is in the junior class.

He is buying the farm. His sister signed the notes. He is paying them off. It is a 65-acre farm. You wouldn't know it now. He has given to the land knowledge. It needs that. He has what must be called a typical day.

It begins at 5 o'clock each morning. He milks, feeds and is off to school at 8:30 o'clock.

He gets home at mid-afternoon and works until dark. He then feeds, milks and gets through with the chores at about 9 o'clock. He studies as long as his eyes will stay open.

(His grades are in the upper 80's. He also finds time for outside activities, such as public speaking. Vocational agricultural teachers aim to produce an articulate farmer as well as an able one.)

BUILDING Vocational agriculture requires a plan. He has been building. His new plan was to install 12 acres of permanent pasture.

You will never find a vocational agricultural student foolish enough to try a few head of livestock without pasture. You have to bring some knowledge to that, too. It is odd how many adults, otherwise sensible, every year go into "the livestock business" without any permanent pastures of feed crops. They quickly and inevitably go broke.

He built, with his own hands, two brooders; put a sanitary curb around the well, painted the kitchen. This summer he picked two bales of his own cotton. He is planning to build a barn next spring.

He likes the farm. He gives credit to his teacher, W. K. Warren, for his progress.

He doesn't know what will happen in the future. He is ready for the Army. He ought to be kept on the farm—he and all others like him. But that is for the future. And those who will decide.

He wants to live on a farm.

One thing vocational agriculture does is to give a dignity to farm life—a dignity which it had, by and large, lost. It also has given it something else, a planning. This it had never had.

A part of the legend of this country was the legend of plenty. It is a legend and a state of mind which plagues us yet.

If a section of farm land "wore out" the farmer simply left it and cleared some new ground. Or, more often, in the early days, he moved westward.

In the 1840's there were great migrations from South Carolina and certain sections of Virginia by farmers whose land had "worn out." These migrations were into Alabama and Mississippi. They cleared the forests and established new fields. These they proceeded to "wear out."

IT DOESN'T WEAR OUT Any vocational agricultural student in Georgia's high schools can tell you that land doesn't "wear out."

It is made sterile by misuse. It is permitted to wash away because of lack of terraces or by the planting of row crops in directions which aid the heavy rains in washing away soil. It can be restored by the planting of legumes.

In the course of five years, hard work and legumes can reclaim gullied fields from which all top soil is gone.

These boys, Luckey and his fellow students, know that. An unpleasant fact is that swine, improperly cared for, develop parasites. Vocational students know how to prevent this development.

They learn how to care for poultry; how to build up a farm. They have "the know how."

Beside them the untalented adult, no longer able to clear "new ground," or to move on to other territory where land is free and to be had for little more than the asking, is losing ground. He has lost faith in the farm. His children have gone to the cities to work. He has lost faith in himself.

I long have believed, and often have said, that vocational agriculture is the real hope of any agricultural state.

I think boys of 18 should be allowed to vote. I honestly believe they would bring much intelligence to the ballot box and it has from older groups; and, I think, it would bring more honesty and more idealism.

I think these boys, of 18 and 19, should be allowed to have some sort of government aid, when they graduate from high school and the vocational agricultural departments, to start in for themselves on land of their own.

A General Has Dictatorial Powers But Not a Dictator's Spirit

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Because of things said here concerning the need of total control for total war, some readers have asked: "Are you advocating a dictatorship?"

The answer is no—not the kind of dictatorship they have in mind. The word "dictator" is offensive to our people. Yet it must be apparent to everybody that our government is not now functioning by the familiar democratic processes of peace. When men and factories are drafted for war, and prices are fixed, and manufacturers are told to quit making their usual products, our government is exercising dictatorial powers.

Roosevelt and his appointed helpers have the power of dictators now. There is scarcely a limit to what they can do for the safety of the country. If they ask congress to authorize some further action, it is not because they lack the power to act, but only because they are fearful of offending the people and wish to make congress assume the responsibility. And men who are afraid of losing their jobs by offending the people are not dictators.

Those who lack faith in the vitality of our democracy are afraid that the use of dictatorial powers during the war will result in a permanent dictatorship. They should read our history. America was ruled by a virtual dictatorship during both the War Between the States and

Dudley Glass

The dictionary again—the one I fall over: Ralph McGill just came in to look up a word. He remarked that the grand old man who trained him—and me—Marmaduke B. Morton, of the Nashville Banner, would not permit a dictionary in the news room.

"If you fellows don't know how to spell a word you have no business using it," the old man used to say.

Which wasn't bad advice. There is always a simpler word in common usage almost anybody can spell. And easy words make clear prose.

Which leads up to a dissertation on spelling and the English language by Uncle Jack Hilton, of the Banks County Journal. He says, says he:

"One of our partners here in the office gave us the horse laugh last Friday. He says there are three ways to spell Eskimo, Esquimaux, Esquimaux, and I spelled it wrong, says any person ought to have sense enough to spell a word when there are three ways to spell it. I haven't looked at the paper since it was printed and don't know how I spelled it, and don't care. In fact, we don't always read this paper after. We informed our young friend who gave us the horse laugh about our spelling that word incorrectly that the English language is composed of approximately 700,000 words and that the average vocabulary in this country is 800 words, which is all we need to teach, preach, practice law, print a newspaper, farm or dig wells. We doubt if there is a person in the United States who can spell and define correctly 10,000 of the 700,000 English words. Don't be ashamed, dear brother, when you misspell a word. You, like me, only know a little of the whole."

A Good Friend Gone

My heart is saddened by the loss of a good friend and a fine citizen—Paul B. Seydel.

He was the husband of Mildred

The Dictionary, Old Man Morton And Jack Hilton

Seydel, a former columnist of the old Atlanta Georgian, who chose to add an "i" to her pen name.

But Paul was far more than just a husband of a well known woman. He was a highly successful manufacturing chemist. In his earlier days he was an accomplished pianist. A Belgian by birth, he had worried greatly over the plight of close relatives in Brussels, from whom it was difficult to obtain news. He spoke several languages. He was a gracious host.

Paul Seydel had a tough time for many years, struggling along with chemical inventions. It was slow going. But he won out, amassed a considerable fortune. A few years ago he and Mildred bought the new Randolph Hearst place on Pace's Ferry road, added to it and built a landscaped garden, the pride of Paul's heart. It is said that he should have enjoyed it for so few years.

It is fine to learn that Jere Wells is to return to his old post as superintendent of Fulton county schools. While nobody approves of playing fast and loose with the people who elect a man to office, I think all parents of county school children will be glad to see Mr. Wells back. And they will appreciate the fine spirit which led his successor, Knox Walker, to retire in his favor.

My two sons went through the Fulton schools, as did most of their friends. They liked their schools, their teachers, the county system. I think much of that opinion was formed by the fine work of Jere Wells.

Jere and I had a little bit of an argument when he decided to run for congress. Like many other folks I thought an A-1 school superintendent was worth 16 brand-new congressmen who would have to wait nine years before the old-timers knew they were present. I thought Jere Wells was worth more to Fulton county than he would be to the nation—at least, at first. And I told him so. My worst—or almost worst—fault is telling people the truth. Or what I think is the truth.

Anyway, I'm glad to see Jere back on the job. And I think most of my readers out in the "country" will agree with me.

Millions of sufferers in the last 30 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Bit of wisdom from the Pickens County Progress: "If you send a person out to raise money for any cause you had better send one with a reputation for paying his debts. It goes against the grain to give money for any purpose how worthy, if the soliciting agent owes you money and will not pay. In that case the party approached will naturally doubt that the money will ever reach the object for which it was intended."

RECALLS OLD STORY ABOUT "BLIND TOM"

Editor, Constitution: I note, with interest, an article written by Willborn Victor Jenkins, of Atlanta, desiring any information concerning Blind Tom, a slave of General Bethune in pre-Civil War Days.

I am a granddaughter of Willis Strickland, who was an intimate friend of General Bethune, and served with him as a co-worker in the general assembly of Georgia.

From memory I recall the following, as told by my grandfather: General Bethune had two beautiful and accomplished daughters who were very talented musicians. And often when they played their piano numbers, Blind Tom would creep close by to listen and memorize their pieces; and when the Bethune family would go to dine, Tom would go to the piano and give them an almost, if not, exact reproduction of their musical numbers. This annoyed the girls, and they wanted their father to stop Tom, and not to allow him in their parlor again. But General Bethune reassured his daughters, telling them how he pitied the poor blind boy; and thusly won them over to his viewpoint. He was given freedom to play at intervals—when the girls were out—and he so soon became a very wonderful performer.

Later on General Bethune, fearing the Abolitionists would kidnap him and commercialize his talents, took him to England and other points abroad, where he gave public performances that always met appreciative audiences.

WHY NOT USE SOLDIERS TO PICK THAT COTTON?

Editor, Constitution: I have read a number of times in your newspaper that there is a great danger that much Georgia cotton will remain unpicked due to the great lack of farm hands, and I have often wondered why an appeal was never made to the federal government for help. What I mean by that is simply this: Why not call on the Army for help in the harvest? I don't know so very much about farming but I think that a division or maybe three divisions of men could clean up a lot of cotton in a day.

And incidentally, as Mr. Pegler has said, the public is awakened to a fact only after continuous harping. I think this a good time to remind them again that the old unused tracks, solid metal, which we need so very badly, remain buried in the streets of Augusta. And the only way that this metal could hurt a Nazi or a Jap, would be for one of them to trip on the tracks, if they invade us, and break a leg. Just because it might be too expensive to have them taken up, the metal remains there, whereas this very metal may be the turning point of the war. So what shall it be, dollars or slavery?

Brenda—Will You Step Out With Me Tonight?

I know I've been an awful grouch not taking you any place lately. But after standing all day at my new job, my feet darn near killed me with callouses and burning. Now I've reformed—or rather my feet have—thanks to the Ice-Mint you advised. Never tried anything that seemed to draw the pain and fire right out so fast—and the way it helps soften callouses is nobody's business! Been able to get some extra overtime money—so what do you say, let's go dancing tonight. You can sleep on my Ice-Mint feet all you want.

General Frink Is Appointed To Higher Post

Former Atlantan Named to Deputy Quartermaster General Position.

Brigadier General James L. Frink, formerly stationed in Atlanta as quartermaster of the Fourth Corps Area, has been appointed deputy quartermaster general in Washington, it was announced here yesterday by the quartermaster branch, Fourth Service Command.

Appointed to his post here in May, 1940, he served until early in 1942 when he was appointed chief of the Motor Transport Division in the office of the quartermaster general in Washington. In his new post as deputy quartermaster general, he will serve in the Procurement, Storage and Distribution, Military Planning, International, Service Installations and Inspection Divisions.

Naiz Subs Have Bases In Atlantic, Tass Reports

MOSCOW, Oct. 21.—(P)—Tass reported today that "the Germans obviously have secret submarine and aviation bases in the South Atlantic," and quoted a Russian observer as saying that among these were France's West African port of Dakar and Spain's Canary Islands.

"It is well known, this observer says, that German armed forces operate from the Canary islands," Tass reported. "It is also known that recently Hitler again has increased pressure upon the Vichy government, demanding control over Dakar. Dakar has an air-drome which formerly was used for airlines in the southern Atlantic. The Germans are trying to use this air-drome as a base for their long-range bombers."

Belgian Bomb Blast Kills Several Germans

LONDON, Oct. 21.—(P)—Several Germans were killed by a bomb explosion in Gestapo headquarters at Cherleroi, Belgium, Belgian sources in London said today.

Another bomb exploded on the same day in a German police headquarters at Mareinelle, the Belgians said, but they had no report on casualties.

A 9 p. m. curfew has been imposed on the area, it was said.

DR. STOUT'S VISIT.

The presence in Georgia today and tomorrow of Dr. Arthur P. Stout, professor of surgical pathology in Columbia University and director of the department of pathology at the Presbyterian Medical Center, New York City, is an occasion which should evoke state-wide interest and gratitude. Dr. Stout, as your doctor will tell you, is one of the world's acknowledged authorities on cancer, and his visit to Georgia, as the guest of the Sheffield Clinic of the Georgia Baptist hospital on the occasion of the eighth annual educational conference of the clinic, will undoubtedly serve to quicken the effort of doctors and laymen alike in the war against this enemy of human happiness.

When we remember that cancer and its allied diseases are the second greatest menace to our lives and health, and that its approach is so subtle and difficult to discover, we should, everyone of us, avail ourselves of every opportunity to learn more about cancer and how it may be discovered and treated. And all the more in these stressful days when everyone is needed at his and her best physical fitness in winning a war that now threatens the very life of our nation. Let us be thankful for the splendid leadership of our Georgia agencies that are devoted to the fight against cancer, and specially for the visit today and tomorrow of Dr. Stout.

Manganese Output Remarkable-WPB

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(P)—WPB reported today "remarkable success" had been achieved in expanding domestic output of manganese, with even more encouraging results in prospect for 1943.

Describing manganese as "an absolute requirement in every pound of steel produced," WPB said this country must depend on domestic production, largely from low-grade ore, to meet 25 to 33 per cent of its essential requirements.

The two most important domestic projects were said to be located in Montana and Nevada, with additional quantities being received from smaller mines in Arkansas, Utah, South Dakota, Georgia and Tennessee.

Druid Hills Baptists To Hear Bataan Colonel

"Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition" will be the subject of an address by Colonel George S. Clarke, one of the last to leave Bataan, at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning to members of the Men's Bible Class of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

Colonel Clarke, who is now in command of all ROTC units in Atlanta high schools, will tell about the activities of Major William E. Dawson, a chaplain, who is now a prisoner of war.

Christy Named To WPB Office

William T. Christy, former Atlantan, yesterday was appointed deputy regional director in charge of district operations of the War Production Board, it was announced by Frank H. Neely, regional WPB head.

The new position which Christy fills was necessitated by the decentralization of WPB activities from Washington to the regions, Neely said.

Christy comes to government service from Tampa where he was manager of the Florida distribution branch of General Electric Company. Prior to 1937, when he took the Florida job, he was district manager of the Edison General Electric Appliance Company with headquarters here. He is on a leave of absence from G. E. for the duration.

All Chain Letters Illegal-Livingston

Chain letters, regardless of whether they contain instructions to send money or other things of value to names of those who have previously been in the chain, are illegal, Postmaster Lon F. Livingston emphasized yesterday after the appearance here of a new type of letter entitled the "Lord's Prayer."

"The new letter declares that 'dire misfortune' awaits the one who breaks the chain, and promises 'great happiness' on the 13th day after the recipient has sent the message on to 13 to whom he wishes good luck. It asks the recipient to read the second chapter of Revelation which says 'Don't let this prayer die in your home.'"

The postmaster said all chain letters are unlawful. Conviction for mailing such matter brings a fine or imprisonment.

I feel like new since I discovered the amazing way to regain my energy and pep!

A marvelous change can be brought about in miserable digestive complaints, underweight, weakness, loss of appetite, by two important steps:

- 1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach
- 2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

If you are one of those unfortunate who have worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, have been vexed by overtaxing worries, or have suffered with colds, the flu, or other illness... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... and your red-blood-cells have become reduced in vitality and number... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, then here is what should help you!

SSS Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient... and to pre-empt those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... pep... become animated... more attractive!

Build Sturdy Health that the Doctors may better serve our Fighting Forces

For when you tone up the stomach and get its digestive juices flowing freely, you should enjoy again that old-time zest for food... stomach digestive miseries should vanish. SSS Tonic also gives you the mineral matter in soluble form to restore your blood to its rich, red color... to its so-called fighting strength... this makes for better body tone... muscular and mental freshness!

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 30 oz. sizes. C. S. S. Co.

They're Giving Everything... WHAT WILL YOU GIVE?

What are YOU going to say to our soldiers when they come back home after the War? The marines steaming in the jungles of the Solomons, soldiers sweltering under the Egyptian sun, sailors freezing on the North Atlantic convoy route—daily risk their lives to preserve the American way of life.

They are suffering hardships to protect OUR homes. What will WE answer when they return and ask us how well we helped to protect THEIR homes?

The Community Fund is the agency through which the people of Atlanta can assist those who need the help of their fellow-citizens—an important means of preserving the human institutions which we have gone to war to defend.

The Community Fund is simply the sum of our individual gifts to 32 separate agencies of social service. YOUR subscription is what counts—the subscription of each working man and woman.

Give generously this year. The Fund has an enormous wartime task of keeping intact the vital community services.

Give MORE this year. The need is great, and most of us can AFFORD to give more.

Atlanta Says It's Plenty 'Hot' In Guadalcanal

Sergeant Henry McMahon Says Marines Take Care of Selves.

When and if the sons of heaven get their main Guadalcanal offensive under way, there's an Atlanta waiting for them and the chaps and the chaps are heard from him already.

Henry McMahon, 21, whose parents live at 149 Moreland avenue, S. E., is not trotting around with a pair of pliers on his belt, doing line Sergeant McMahon, with and installing instruments for telephone company.

Today, says a letter just received by his father, he's "having a good battle with the Japs."

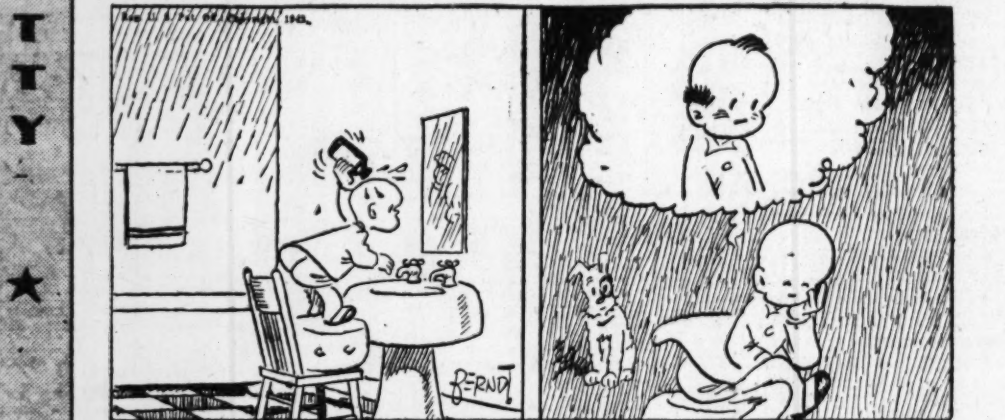

In a simple note written in pen the homefolk "I'm in Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands. It's hot here and I mean the weather. The islands are beautiful. The natives were once head hunters, but have tamed down somewhat. A Marine can always take care of himself. I'm brown as the natives and rugged as an ape. Tell everyone to keep their shirts on until we get the rest of these Japs."

AP Not a Monopoly, Michener Tells House
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(P)—Representative Michener, Republican of Michigan, told the house today "it seems clear to me that the Associated Press is not a monopoly," and he expressed hope the Justice Department would continue its anti-trust suit against the association "and all other similar disturbing proceedings for the duration of the war at least."

Savannah Refused Help By Talmadge

McEvoy's Omission From Ballot Brings Plea to Governor

Governor Talmadge notified Edward T. McEvoy, of Savannah, yesterday that he could take no action in his protest that his name had been omitted from the general election ballot as candidate for congress from the first Georgia district.

McEvoy, in a letter to Secretary of State John Wilson, protested exclusion of his name as an Independent Republican.

Wilson, in reply, said that the law did not permit certification of a candidate as "Independent Republican," and told McEvoy that he would have to run either as a straight independent, or have endorsement of the Republican party, as a Republican.

The Savannah man said unless his name was placed on the ballot, he would contest the election of Representative Hugh Peterson, Democrat, Georgia, first district incumbent, and added he would seek aid of Governor Talmadge to have his name placed on the ballot.

The Governor's secretary, Carlton Mobley, said in replying to McEvoy the Governor stated no action could be taken because his name had not been certified by the secretary of state.

"I know that Atlanta has the capacity to give," he said. "I know that Atlanta is not happy about the past record."

"I know it is not in the heart of Atlanta to deny a helping hand to the less fortunate."

"It is simply that we have not set our sights high enough in the past. This year, we hope to change this, and set a standard more in keeping with the reputation and spirit of our city."

Mayor Hartsfield, who heads the solicitation among city employees, said that this year, more than ever before, Atlanta has the will, the ability and the incentive to give enough to care for the agencies of protection, charity and character building.

"We will have enough money in our pockets which we cannot spend, because of priorities and rationing, to more than provide for these human needs," he said.

Stair-pushing, fire-fighting, littering returns from the efforts of workers already in the field had produced some spectacular increases, and said that the pace, if maintained, would bring overwhelming success.

Dr. Avary Rites To Be Held Today

Funeral services will be held at Peachtree Chapel this afternoon for Dr. James Corbin Avary, fatally injured when struck by a Marietta trolley near Woodland station Monday night.

Dr. Avary apparently fell through the trolley in the path of the trolley, Cobb county police reported. T. H. Jones, operator, said he did not see the man in time to stop.

Services will be held at 4 o'clock with the Rev. Pierce Harris officiating. Burial will be in the DeWitt cemetery.

F. D. R. Affixes Signature To New Tax Bill

Measure Estimated To Yield $6,881,000,000 in Revenue.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The new tax bill, applying record shattering levies to the income of 45,000,000 Americans, became law today when President Roosevelt affixed his signature less than an hour and a half after receiving the measure from congress.

The new individual income rates range from 19 per cent on the first dollar of taxable income to 88 per cent on the top. This is accomplished by a normal tax of six per cent to which is added a graduated surtax ranging from 13 per cent to 82 per cent.

On top of that, the bill imposes a unique new "victory tax" of five per cent on individual income in excess of $624 annually, or $12 weekly. Limited credits are allowed for debt retirements, insurance premiums, war bond purchases and post war rebates.

The new law also increases corporation taxes by nine percentage points, raising them to 40 per cent, through a combined normal and surtax. In addition excess profits, after an exemption of $5,000, are taxed at 90 per cent.

Another section of the measure raises excise taxes, effective November 1, on liquor, cigars, and other items.

The Treasury has asked that the new bill—which it estimates will yield an additional $6,881,000,000—be immediately supplemented by another new bill which will increase federal revenues by $6,000,000,000. Congressional tax leaders expected to start work on it early in 1943.

OPA Says Price Boosts In Some Soups Legal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Housewives were advised today that recent price increases on canned soups labeled "new style" or "new recipe" are legal because the cans contain more food.

In a move to stave off a host of complaints from the ladies, the Office of Price Administration explained that the government many months ago requested soup manufacturers to increase the quantity of solids in the cans and authorized corresponding price increases.

Headache Remedy Makers Accused

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission announced today it had filed complaints against the manufacturers of "Bromo-Seltzer," "BC," "Stanback," "Hicks' Liquid Capidine," and "C. C. Compound," all alleged as headache remedies, charging them with false advertising and misrepresentation.

The firms were allowed 20 days to file answers to the complaints.

Raid Alarm at Gibraltar, But Italians Bomb Spain

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 21.—(AP)—An air raid warning sounded in this British stronghold last night, but several Italian bombers which flew over the Gibraltar area dropped all their bombs in adjacent Spanish territory.

Colonel Knerr Ordered to Active Duty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—(AP)—Colonel Hugh J. Knerr, retired, who was ordered recently by Secretary of War Stimson to refrain from public discussion of the conduct of the war after Knerr had criticized a magazine article by Admiral Thomas C. Hart, has been ordered to active duty with the Army, it was learned today.

Knerr, 55, former chief of staff of the general headquarters air force, was retired in 1939.

He issued a statement in New York 10 days ago criticizing Hart's article in a weekly magazine arguing against any establishment of a separate air force.

SUMMERS, GREER BECOME ENSIGNS

Jack Dempsey Summers, of Atlanta, and Tifton Seth Greer, of Lilburn, were commissioned ensigns at the New York Naval Reserve.

After completion of their three-month V-7 training course, the ensigns were graduated in the eighth class, which was the largest class in the history of the Naval Reserve.

Lieutenant Summers is the son of Mrs. Carrie Summers, of 541 St. Charles avenue.

W. J. ADAMS MADE GUNNERY SERGEANT

W. J. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Jones Adams, of Smyrna, graduated recently from the Gunnery School at Herlingen, Texas, and was promoted to a gunnery sergeant.

A picture of a fellow student appeared in The Constitution last week in place of Adams by mistake.

Weldon D. Copeland, of 935 Gordon street, S. W., and Otis E. Horton, of 700 Lindsey street, were recently called to active duty and will report to Fort McPherson for induction. Both are enlisted reservists.

Robert Loffen Smith, of 1345 Memorial drive, has been recently promoted to sergeant in the parachute division at Fort Benning.

John C. Hollman, of 1152 Confederate avenue, S. E., was recently promoted from private to sergeant at the Quartermaster Replacement Training Center at Camp Lee, Va.

Thomas C. Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Sutton, of 1199 Van Buren street, graduated last week from the Officer Candidate School of the Quartermaster Corps at Camp Lee, Va., and was commissioned a second lieutenant.

Don't envy anyone who picked up a splendid used car. Do as HE did. Find one exactly like it in the Want Ads of The Constitution.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. The gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up."

Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 50¢ and $1.00.
